WE SHOUT AND FIGHT FOR THE BLUE AND WHITE

The Blue and White

Old Toronto, Mother ever dear,
All thy sons thy very name revere,
Yes, we hail thee, ne'er will fail thee,
But will seek thy glory with our might.
(Yes we are) ever loyal, faithful, frank and strong.
We will sound thy praises in our song,
Aye, and cheer both loud and long,
The Royal Blue and White.

Soon our college days will all be past,
Duty bids us part from friends at last,
But we'll sever, trusting ever,
Love for Varsity may us unite (unite us).
Then we'll serve the Mother of us all,
And the merry days of youth recall,
While, whatever may befall,
We'll flaunt the Blue and White.

Toronto is our University,
Shout, oh shout, men of every faculty,
Velut arbor aevo,
May she ever thrive. Oh!
God, forever bless our Alma Mater.

H, many are the things that are out in the years :

There are visions of joy, bright hopes and dark fears,
There are prophecies made which the future must hold
To swift, sure fulfilment, in measure untold.
There are gleamings of smiles and cloud mists of tears,
There are beautiful things far out in the years.

“There are beautiful things far out in the years,
There is light which the gloom of the present endears,
There are thoughts which the future to good deeds may change,
There is happiness there so blissful and strange.
Though the present for us hold but trials and tears,
There are beautiful things far out in the years.”

December 31st, 1917.

YEAR ago we were hoping that when the next Commencement Day arrived, we should be able to look back upon victory and be setting ourselves to the tasks of peace; but I must again, and now for the fourth time, address those who will graduate in May under the cloud of war. Indeed there are some among you who are completing their courses after having been on active service at the front, soldier-students whom we have welcomed home, and whose service, along with that of our other men who have gone forth to this war, has brought distinction to their University. In one way or another you have all, I believe, received a new and higher learning than your predecessors in the sense that your education has been won in a new and keener atmosphere created by a purifying idea. I am confident that you will use what the University has given you at this time of unsurpassed sacrifice in the spirit of those of our graduates and your own fellow-students who have served their country and our imperishable cause at the most exacting cost to themselves; and that as in war abroad so in peace when it comes at home you will abundantly prove the worth of your training.

R. A. Falcione President.

VALEDICTORY

At the moment of parting, as perhaps at no other time, comes the impulse to "look before and after, and pine for what is not." And when, as now, the parting is of friends who for long have lived together, worked together, played together, but who now are to be scattered, like seeds in autumn that take root in distant fields; when the parting means farewell to an institution whose spirit has pervaded and shaped an epoch of our lives—perhaps at such a time we may be pardoned if we pause, as on the threshold, for one last view of familiar scenes, for a moment's reflection on the associations and friendships and influences that we are leaving.

Four years ago we gathered here, with our dreams, our ambitions and ideals. Those were the days when Fancy, lightly fitting to the far-off time of graduation, painted in radiant colours the "careers" that would then await us. Now we find these things have changed, even as we have changed; and there may be a smile of amusement, or a pang of regret, as we remember what we were to have been. Coming in search of education, we may have expected some magical transport to the things most desired; or some instrument of knowledge or skill that would mean certain achievement of the goal we then sought. But instead we have found that we shall always be students, that education is a slower process, a process of growth, of development, that should not, that must not end before the close of life itself. Many, too, have found besides a deeper, nobler meaning, have learned that the end of education is character, and the test of character is service. And they have gone, have thrown aside the old ambitions, broken away from the accustomed life, gone to seek the fields of greatest service. Some were destined not to leave those fields; many still carry on, will do so to the end; and some have returned, joining with us on this, our day of graduation.

As we pause here on the threshold, for a backward glance down the way we have come, we see many things that we might wish were different. Perhaps we have not been true to the best that is in us, perhaps we regret that we cannot recall to live over again the years just gone by. But it is with an abiding sense of the privileges that we have enjoyed, and of the debt that we have incurred to others less fortunate, that we bid farewell to Toronto. As we step forward to work our way in the far-scattered tasks that await us, the spirit of our University through four years of war, and the conduct of the noblest of her sons, shall be to us a gleam of inspiration, a beacon light to guide us to the things worth while.

TORONTONENSIS, 1918

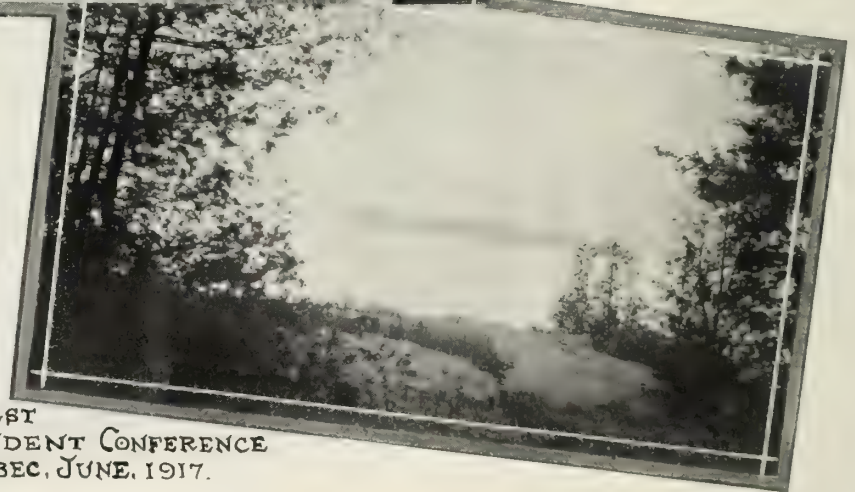

After months of patient endeavour, the twentieth volume of Torontonensis is published. Students who are familiar with the pages of preceding Year Books, will note the many changes; and it is hoped that these will meet with their approval. To those who have been actively associated in the work connected with the assembling of the material of this volume the editor expresses his deepest appreciation.

The purpose of this book is to record in picture and biography the characteristics of the individual members of the graduating year, and in write-up and engraving to tell the story of the many activities which compose college life. This volume contains the history of the Class of 1T8, which entered this University in the Fall of 1914, shortly after the outbreak of war. Not a few of its original members have fallen on the fields of battle; many are still on active service; some have returned; and we, who form the remainder, having spent four of the most momentous years in the world's history in preparing to live, now go forth from the halls of our Alma Mater. How many are watching to see what we shall do in answer to the ringing appeal for women and men, to bring trained minds, broad sympathies and world-wide vision to the task of winning the war, that men may continue to live; but who, now and after the war, will endeavour, not only to make the "World safe for Democracy," but will make "Democracy saving for the World"?

We may not now attach any significant value to this volume; but our thoughts in regard to this matter will change. In the future, though separated by long stretches of distance from our University, will not a glance through the pages of this book bring us back in thought to the years we spent among familiar scenes; renew remembrances of many happy friendships; rekindle visions of the days that were to be? As we linger in such reminiscence—as we shall love to do—shall we not with the Rt. Hon. H. H. Asquith see that the greatest gift which any University can bestow is "the company of great thoughts; the inspiration of great ideals; the example of great achievements; and the consolation of great failures"?

To the Graduating Class of University College

By Principal Hutton

Principal Hutton

The class of 1918 is the first that has graduated with no University experience previous to the experience of war; it is a momentous change: whether for better or worse who shall say? but obviously for both the better and worse in many ways. The men and women of 1918 have seen the greatest movement which has ever stirred the soul of Canada with a sense of its place in the world, and still more with a sense of the unity of that Empire of which it now forms a much more prominent part: they have seen a catastrophe which on the face of it ought to have unified Canada itself more than anything which has ever happened; a great war binding together with blood and iron the two great races from which Canada springs: the latter hope, the most brilliant promise Canada has drawn from the cards of destiny has been defeated up to the present by causes—some accidental and arising from the blunders of politicians, and some still very obscure and buried from view in that strange French-Canadian mind which is the only “American” mind now left in America: the only mind which clings to that American doctrine of isolation which America itself has now finally renounced. It is possible that before these words are finally in print Sir Wilfrid may have brought round his countrymen of Quebec to broader views of their place in Canada and of the place of Canada in the world; but at present, in the last days of the year 1917, this is only a hope, and even a faint hope. Even so, the class of 1918 have lived out their University course in great days, full of inspiration as well as full of tragedy; they have seen their comrades going to the front to the number of over one thousand from this college; of that thousand it is already known before the end of 1917 that one hundred will never return; that number will be increased before these words are read. These memories of the war, with their mingled exaltation and regret, are the assets of this class; on the other side of the balance is the diminished vitality of all University life; it is not merely that the best of our men are gone—that is a small part of the loss in energy and interest; in addition to that our thoughts are turned from their natural channel; we think and talk only of the war. All the normal activities of the University are depressed; athletics are rigidly circumscribed by the absence of the best athletes; dances and social functions have disappeared; the Literary and Scientific Society is in suspended animation; the old “faculty” rivalries, with the diminution in the numbers of each faculty, have faded away; and finally there is something which appeals most of all to a professor, though less no doubt to students: the intellectual keenness of the air is gone.

The end is not yet: the class of 1918 passes out of academic life as thousands of Canadians have passed out of mortal life, hoping to live to see the end of the war and the passing of German frightfulness, and not seeing them.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

ARMOUR, ELIZABETH F.

"A woman of independent mind."

Matriculating from Campbellford High School, Bess entered Varsity with Class '18. Her sincerity has won for her here many warm friends; and her staunch independence points to a very successful future.

ARNEDT, NORMA S.

*"Largely endowed
With personal gifts and bright instinctive wit."*

Hamiltonian "Mamie" Moderns aspirant for three years prophesying in her third generalizing in her fourth—specializing in skating, dancing, and chasing wee, sleekit, cow'rin', tim'rous beasties at 2 a.m.

BECKETT, HOLLIS E.

"He loved a smoke, he loved a joke, and friends to call around"

Scarboro greeted him in June, 1896. Markham and Malvern prepared him for Varsity. The finished product of U. C. now seeks legal enlightenment. A confirmed optimist despite frequent "blowouts"

BEST, I. HILDA

*"When sweet sixteen from the sea she came,
Where the mist makes colour bright,"*

Hilda came fresh from the ocean breezes of Maine. She has been consistent in generalizing, not only in class-work, but in societies, and friendships. Hilda's varied interests have kept her much on the rush, and she has been a willing worker on executives each year.

BLACK, LILLIAN M.

" Une voix si pure Qu'elle fait concurrence au rossignol qui murmure."

Lillian has hitherto passed her days uneventfully in the city of her birth, but a voice of remarkable power and beauty will carry her far afield in the future.

BLANCHARD, MARIE C.

*" For to know her better
Is but to love her more."*

Marie comes from Belleville, entering Varsity in Moderns. With a keen sense of humor and a capacity of enjoying life intensely, she has developed her social as well as her intellectual powers. She is a true friend. What more need we say?

BOLE, CECIL L.

"None who shall arbitrate Ten men love what I hate."

Educated at Orillia Collegiate and Peterboro Normal. Three years in rural teaching determined his vocation. At Varsity has revealed philosophic insight, fine sensibilities and a devotion for music, literature and art. More at home in the study than in the world.

BOLE, J. SHERIDAN

"Mine be some figured flame which blends, transcends them all."

In 1897 Sheridan was planted in Woodville. Before branching into Philosophy at U. C. in 1914 he sapped some elements of learning at Cammington. A poet by birth; a sophist by nature. Interests: Tennis and The Arts.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

BOLES, JAMES A.

"I mean of sense and sympathy, honour and pense of sense."

"Let's sing the song of Aud Lang Syne,
Should old friends be forgot?
For friendship cannot change with time,
Though time may change our lot."

BOLTON, ALICE J.

*"Laughs at impossibilities
And cries it shall be done."*

Whatever Alice does, she does with all her heart. Perhaps this is the secret of the success that has attended her at Riverdale, at U. H. Sc. and in her many other activities. Whatever field of work she enters, teaching, dietetics, or the gentle art of home-making, we are sure she will do well.

BOYD, LORNE T.

"The end justifies the means."

Coming via unknown lands from Langton, Ont., Lorne got off at Varsity September, '14, and entered M. & P. During his fun-lough here he has not confined his attention exclusively to the male inmates. Fellow and co-ed, grads, wish him every success in teaching the youth the paths of rectitude.

BOYLE, AGNES W.

"Happiness is not to be prescribed but enjoyed."

Born at Richmond Hill, and having matriculated from Harbord, Agnes enrolled as a General Student. Through a genial personality and the sunniest of smiles, she leaves our Alma Mater a General Favorite.

BRISSON, ALBERTINE

*"Well, here the seed of reason did I sow,
But I am even loath enough to make a grove."*

Albertine, after graduating from Ridgeway C. I. M., more or less regularly infested University College in search of light on the subject of Modern History, supplementing this with a course on the astronomy of motion picture stars. Favorite literature, Enveloped in Britannica.

BRODIE, J. BACON

"The little that is done seems nothing when we look forward and see how much we have yet to do."

Enrolled in Philosophy. Addicted to public speaking and blushing. Always frank, sincere and earnest even in his determination not to marry for five years.

BROWN, CLARA ADELE

"All that's best of dark and light Meet in her aspect and her eyes."

Adele hails from Humberside C. I., Toronto. She entered B. & P., 118. Her bright and cheerful disposition makes her eminently fitted for her chosen medical career. Good luck to our future doctor!

BROWN, LAURA H.

"She was my friend, faithful and just to me."

From Hamilton Laura came to Queen's Hall and Varsity, entering General. A hospitable hostess, a party-goer and partaker of all but tea, her character requires no comment. "You know what I mean."

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

BRUCE, GLADYS M.

*"Tis the mind that shines in every grace
And chiefly in her roquish c'en."*

From Collingwood came Gladys with her high ideals and her love of mis-chief. Three weaknesses has she—afternoon teas, French and still more French.

BUCK, MARJORIE

"A maiden modest yet self possessed."

From Port Rowan Marjorie's guiding-star led her first to Havergal and then to Varsity, where it shed its broad rays upon Moderns and Music. She took a great interest in College Activities, specializing in executives in '18. Chief characteristic punctuality?

CALE, OLIVE B.

"I wonder you will still be talking; Nobody marks you."

E. & H. (C) General, 2 stars Mod. Hist. so varied a career naturally entailed "words" with those "in loco parentis." These experiences cultivated a natural talent for constructive analysis and prepared her for the subsequent office of Critic of the Lit

CHAMBERS, LORA B.

"Gentle of speech, beneficent of mind."

Lora hails from Woodstock. Entered the 1T8 class. General Course. Bright disposition, good student. Few hearts like hers, with virtues warmed. Few heads with knowledge so informed.

CHILD, MABEL C.

"A heart to plan, a head to contrive and a hand to execute"

a (i) - (ability)⁴.

- Mathematics - Gym.² - Dramatic³.

14-18

+ W. C. A.⁴

a (i) - "The gladsome heart of a child"

COOK, CLARENCE C.

"Now is the time to laugh."

Little is known of the juvenile career of this colloquial wit artist. Right from the plough handles at Streetsville, "Cap" blazed into Oakwood C. I. and thence to M. & P. in U. C. 1914. He leaves us hoping that his scientific training may help to set this world aright.

COOPER, MARGUERITE

"Sweet records, promises as sweet."

From St. Thomas to English and History. From a little Freshie to Vice-President of the Lit

From a pink-checked innocent to a B.A.

CORRIGAN, MARY J.

"When Irish Eyes Are Smiling . . ."

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

COWAN, D. ARCHIBALD

"For when thou conqurest, he can't argue still."

Archibald greeted the world with his characteristic smile and murmured "Me from Bluee, too," at Chesley, Ont., in 1892. Toronto welcomed him in 1907. The University misnamed him Arts '18. His jovial sincerity and stories have gained him many friends. Carry on, Knox College.

DALLEY, MARY A.

*"For she's a roll, good fellow,
And nobody can deny."*

Mary came from Jarvis Collegiate, indulging in her spare time in General Course. Sympathetic, genial, with a host of friends, she has held office in various capacities. A delightful contralto voice has made her very popular at College functions. Good luck to her, say we.

DEY, MARY H.

"A noble type of good heroic Womanhood."

Borne in Moose Creek, received her elementary education at Cornwall High School and Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby; entered Varsity in '14, where she has won many friends by her kindness and sympathy.

DIGNUM, DORIS V.

"Trust her not, she is tooting thee."

Doris Valentine Dignum, coming from Westbourne School, registered in Arts, 1911. A breakdown necessitated her leaving College 1914, and after some time spent in England she returned to join the class of '18.

EISEN, SOLOMON

"For their own merits no rest men are dumb."

Born 1898. Matric 1913. Entered Varsity with class 1918, where he spent his time exploring the nebulous regions of philosophy, obtaining honors throughout his course. He has taken a keen interest in every branch of student activity. C. O. T. C. '14-'16; local editor of Varsity; Philosophical Club; organizer and general secretary of Memorial Society.

ELLIOTT, GLADYS E.

She loved her own sweet way; she loved
To sleep, and eke to dream;
She loved all things artistic, and
She loved her tea with cream;
She loved to wear a thoughtful air,
Eyes cool and brow serene;
But most of all she loved to do
The wholly unforeseen.

FERGUSON, M. GRACE

"A Little Lovely Maid, Most Dear and Taking."

Fun-loving and care-free, but withal a loyal friend. Grace entered College Halls in 1914; General Course claimed her, but she found time for College Activities; being Anglican Rep., and efficient secretary Athletic Association '18.

FLETCHER, MARY E.

"A friend is gold, if true, he'll never leave thee."

Matriculating from Barrie Collegiate, Mary entered General Course. Genial, sympathetic, and possessed with a sterling sense of honor, she soon gained many friends. "The best possible" is the benediction of '18.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

FLETT, FLORENCE E.

"The only rose without thorns is friendship."

Budded in Toronto, cultivated at St. Margaret's, came to Varsity to bloom, justified her claim as a thornless rose by her genuine friendship—truly her fragrance will ever linger with the members of '18.

FORD, NORMA H. C.

"Slight is the subject, but not so the praise."

Matriculated from Parkdale Collegiate with First Edward Blake Scholarship in Science. Specialized in Biology, winning First Fulton Scholarship in 1915. Was Treasurer of the W. U. A. and Vice-President of the Biological Club.

FOREMAN, HARRY R.

"Keeping on the path of duty, caring not for praise nor blame."

Collingwood claimed Harry during his Public and High School days. Migrating to Toronto, he became a follower of Epicurus, studying Physics for a pastime. He promises well in Mechanics.

FRASER, MARJORIE A.

"Merry to walk with, merry to talk with, And a good friend withal."

Marjorie started from Tottenham, passed through Parkdale, arrived at Varsity. Stopping four years, she has amused herself with Moderns and acquired a remarkable taste for executive prominence. Shortly she leaves for ?

GALBRAITH, FLOSSIE

"The things are few, she would not do, In friendship's name."

Floss came to College from Bridgeburg to indulge in Classics and Queen's Hall parties. President of Classical Association '18. Hobbies—travel and hot baths. Horror—essays.

GORDON, ELIZABETH D.

"Shall I compare thee to a summer day, Thou art more lovely and more temperate."

From Westbourne College Betty plunged into the labors of Household Science, to emerge a triumphant cuisinière. Her other accomplishments were serving in offices and making friends.

GRAHAM, ELSIE C.

"Who is this with rusty locks, A little late? (that never shocks US now). Her voice is musical: Her logic is proverbial; Good coffee is her great delight; And cheering people when they fight; And little lists of things to do, And doing things she oughtn't to. She falls down stairs with dignity. But's most at home when pouring tea."

GRASS, A. O.

"The student was stung for a miserable 'sup' Even as you and I."

Name?—Arch. Born?—Yes. Where?—St. Catharines. Aged.—Yes. Business?—Rotten. College?—U. C. Course?—General. Activities?—Active two months in Classics; since inactive in General except in Junior Year, of which he was President. Deserting Classics, nevertheless a "Greek" signifying gentleman and friend.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

GREGORY, WILLIAM F.

"There already blooms a certain Paradise cheered by some fairest Eve."

Born in Collingwood, 1891. "Bill" entered Varsity with the class of '14. Overseas with the Fourth University Company in 1915, reinforcing P. P. C. L. I. Wounded June, 1916. Married May, 1917. Discharged October 1917. President of graduating class Member Torontonensis Board. A man with a great past and a greater future.

HAIG, HELEN M.

*"The reason firm, the temperate will,
Endurance, foresight, strength and skill."*

Past Born at Baltimore, Ont. Educated at Baltimore and Cobourg. Present University Household Science. Future Uncertain but if enthusiasm and the power of concentration are the key to success, it should be very bright.

HALLIDAY, J. MAUDE

*" 'Tis the mind that shines in every grace
And chiefly in her roguish élan."*

Adhering firmly to that which she believed to be worth while in life Maude has sailed safely through the storms and calms of a four years' voyage in M. & P. Her bright brown eyes and Scotch personality have won steadfast friends.

HARRISON, EDITH P.

*"Noblesse oblige me to thank
Some people say I am clever."*

Habitat—Dunnville
Small, dark and lively.
Ambition To become a famous cook and put the science into Household Achievements at College Fulfilled her ambition and cheered the dreary lives of undergraduates of both sexes.

HARVIE, WILLIAM P.

*"To this his purpose took an antismmel,
By tasks herculean and arduous
Or smiles or frowns he kept his steadfast way."*

The product of chequered experiences, a disciple of Macaulay
His philosophy, history, the essence of innumerable biographies

HILES, E. GWENDOLYN

"Of winning speech, endearing, artless, kind"

Gwen took her Honour Matric. at Jarvis Collegiate and entered University College in 1914. Popularity ensured by her ever-ready smile and favourite expression "Sister So and So." Energetic President Anglican Club, 1917-18.

HOOD, ANNIE I.

"A Rosebud set with little wilful Thorns"

Born In Barrie, 1897 Matriculated at Stayner, 1913
Course General.
Hobbies—Skating and fruit picking.
Remarks Kind-hearted and jolly.
"She loves a joke, and friends to call around"

HOOD, RETA M.

"True at heart, a sport at all."

Reta came "ad libem," 1898, and matriculated at Stayner, 1913. She entered Varsity 1914 to participate in the Geneva Course. Her jolly disposition and ability to skate won her many friends.
Here's to Reta!

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

HORNING, FREDERICK J.

"He reads much, he is a great observer, and he looks quite through the deeds of men."

Freddie's smiling countenance and great powers of speech have won him recognition in "Commerce and Finance" Political Economy, Politics and Transportation are his specialties. His old briar is seldom cold.

JAMIESON A. F.

"Agin anything everybody else is for."

Jamie first kicked in Rothesay, Scotland, June, 1894—kicking ever since. In Varsity succumbed to Semitics. Home, Toronto. Religion, doubtful. Reading, French novels Politics, Radical. Hobby, fussing. Destination, we would like to know?

KENNEDY, GRETTA

"A heart to resolve, a head to contrive."

Matriculated in Wingham, and entered Household Science. Of many moods, with not a sour one among them, she has helped Lit. and Class Executives, and was Toastmistress at Queen's Hall Dinner for '17 Seniors.

KILNER, MABEL W.

"Such a friend do I remember, Whom to see her teas to love her."

Mabel has spent most of her life in Toronto. Graduating from Westbourne, she entered College, and has successfully devoted her energies to Household Science, The Dramatic Club, and the Class Executive.

LEE, MARJORIE

*"We grant although she had much wit,
She was very shy of using it."*

Moderns first claimed Marjorie upon matriculating from Hamilton Collegiate. Later the General Course proved irresistible and she voluntarily answered its call. Ever popular, she won the Vice-Presidency of her fourth year.

LEWIS, MURIEL

"Rare compound of oddity, frolic and fun."

St. Thomas, which in a large moment lent us Muriel, now wants her back. Reluctantly we return her and report: Scholarship—sufficient; friendship—satisfying; offices—a vice-presidency; athletics—tennis; acquisitions—facts, friends, fun and a B.A.

LEWIS, VICTOR G.

"I have found you an argument."

—Boswell.

Born Sept. 11th, 1892, Birmingham, England. Now a thorough Canadian. Matric. Jarvis Collegiate, Toronto. Vice-Pres. Mission Society (1916). Pres. Literary Society (1917) at Wycliffe. Graduates in P.S.—"A faithful student and a clear thinker. The Church needs men like him!"

LITTLEFIELD, EDITH I.

"An able man shows his spirit by gentle words and resolute actions."

Born at Springfield, Ill. Matriculated from Havergal, Edith, through her ability and tireless energy in the interests of others, soon gained class distinctions and popularity. With her name are associated a sterling character and golden deeds.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

LOWRIE, ROBERT J.

"A man of well tempered frame."

Handicapped by making initial appearance in Hamilton Grad from over the Don (Riverdale C. L., Toronto). Sometime impersonator of Kubelik; and burlesquer at the "mock" '16. His favourite authors throughout his earthly career have been Hays and Mathematics.

LUCAS, JESSIE

*She has wit and fun and fire,
She has the truest, kindest heart."*

At Glen Mawr and Branksome Hall Jessie became inspired with a zeal for Moderns, which neither Anglo-Saxon nor Old French have been able to daunt. Should the lure of the business world not prove too strong we should suggest a Post Graduate course in Anglo Saxon.

LYON, MARJORY

A cheery fire, a comfy chair,
A Gardner, Morley or "dictionnaire."
A merry throng from work set free,
Lights and laughter and cups of tea.
Executives sitting in solemn state,
Proclaiming on matters of fearful weight
Maids in gown and mortar board,
Among them, she a just reward!

MacGOWAN, JESSIE E.

Oh, who is this? A maiden fair,
With fearless eyes and golden hair,
Of stately port,
She is a maid who loves to knit.
She's famed for puns and flashing wit
And quick retort
But 'twere idle to name all her graces and arts,
Suffice it to say she's a lady of parts.

MacMILLAN, DOROTHY R.

"Born to write, converse, and live with ease"

Formative influences: "Cragmount," Edinburgh, P.C.I.

Characteristics: Keen wit, unwavering loyalty.

Preoccupations: Afternoon tea; dramatics;
Presidency of Modern Language Club.

Recreations: College course, Phi Beta Phi.
Destiny: In good hands—her own.

MACPHERSON, ELSINORE

Societies joined she,
Books in force,
Now she's a Rebel,
Of course.

MacTAVISH, F. GERTRUDE.

"Who mixed reason with pleasure and was dom with mirth."

From Kemptville "Gert" migrated to Toronto in search of higher education. A diligent student always successful—in her senior year on the class executive. Modesty and sincerity have won for her many friends.

McCORDIC, IVAN C.

"'Tis no sin for a man to labor in his vocation."

"Mike" landed in S. Dakota about 23 years ago. He received his elementary and secondary education in the woods (Forest, Ont.), where as a sometime active participant in baseball he was famous. Only those "steeped" in true democratic principles may have audience with this disciple of Uncle Sam.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

McCULLOUGH, CHARLOTTE S.

"There is nothing like being modest."

Charlotte was born and educated in Harrison; entered Honour Biology 1T8, and obtained the Daniel Wilson Scholarship for Biology in her third year. Her quiet humour was much appreciated by all who knew her.

McDOUGALL, JEAN L.

*"Something in ilka part o' thee,
To praise, to love, I find."*

Venturing forth from the Capital in pursuit of elusive knowledge, Jean anchored at Varsity through the long, exacting years of English and History, always remaining true to her old loves—Burns and Hot Water.

McINROY, ALICE H.

*"A heart to resolve, a head to contrive,
and a hand to execute."*

Alice matriculated from Saskatoon C. I. in 1910 and entered Varsity with the class of '18. Her sincerity has won her many friends and her capability points to success in future.

McLELLAN, ROBERT F.

"There's all of manhood and good fellowship in thee."

R. F. McLellan was born in 1895 at Toronto. His pursuit of knowledge led him on through Harbord C. I. to University College. In his final year "Mac" served efficiently upon the Class Executive and among his friends established himself so firmly that their best wishes will follow him all the rest of his days.

McMURTRY, MARION J.

"Into Varsity, why not knowing Nor whence;"

From the prairies of Saskatchewan Marion brought to Varsity the sunshine of her smile. Her future is undecided, but, due to her boundless ambitions, Fame may yet claim her as her own.

McNAIR, ALICE A.

*"The little deeds of Grace that daily flow
From every word and action."*

Born near Richmond Hill, where her school days were spent; graduated from Varsity with '18 class. Her unselfishness and thought for others made her a general favourite.

MANSER, VELMA M.

"But oh, she dances such a way "

Little Miss Manser,
"Une petite 'romancer '"
From Parkdale to Moderns did stray.
With music and dancing
And ideals entrancing.
She will make a most fetching B.A.

MEEK, MURIEL I.

"Cool, unperturbed by stress and hurry, Inclined to work, but not to worry."

Muriel matriculated from the St. Thomas Collegiate. Entered Varsity with the English and History Class of '18. Served on the Class Executive in her second year. Academic and social life characterized by unflinching optimism and cheerfulness.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

MILLAR, CLAIRE

"Many are called, but few get up Especially in the morning."

"Physics, Lab, Basketball and Gym.
In all she entered with eager vim.
Then after four years she left the hall
Carrying with her the good wishes of all."

MOORE, GRACE E.

*"A smiling eye, a brow serene,
A ready wit, a friendly mien."*

London, Varsity, Biology, Class Vice-President '14, Secretary Biological Club '15. Besides storing knowledge with the (more or less) studious ones of Queen's Hall, Grace specialized in labs, medical dances, German(?) and knitting

PARK LEONORA

"With many a Social Virtue Graced."

Leonora was born in Uxbridge, where she received part of her elementary education, completing it at Peterborough. Her class have shown their appreciation of her by making her Prophetess of the graduating year.

PECK, HELEN R.

"And here's to 'er!"

In choice of course mathematical, in others service ready, in friendship true and loyal, in faith an Anglican, and in all things most just

POAG, MYRTLE I.

"Here is a friend both for earnest and sport."

Myrtle came forth from Hamilton Collegiate, entered Varsity and General Achievements—Head Girl of Queen's Hall; G.W.C.A. Cabinet '16 and W.U.A. Executive '17.

Characteristics "I hate a lumpy man" and "Let's have a party."

PRATT, E. R. ISAAC

"Born of pure heart, not sparrowed for scheming brain."

"Si" is a pioneer of Stittsville, Ont., the land of milk and honey. Attended Smith's Falls Collegiate. Prominent in Athletics. Entered M. & P. Class '17, but due to misfortune joined happy throng of Class '18.

PURDOM, JEAN

"A maiden of our Century."

Act. I.—London C. I.
Act. II. Scene I.: Western University for two years. Scene II. Toronto Varsity ditto.
Act. III Who knows?

PURDOM, MARGARET

"It's nice to get up in the morning but —"

From Western University Margaret migrated to Varsity. During the last year she turned from earthly studies to heavenly ones. We sincerely hope that her magnetic personality may attract only ethereal stags.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

QUINN WILLIAM R.

Here's a heart for every fate."*

Born near Kincardine.
Graduate of Kincardine High School.
Entered Biology, 1914.
President of the Biological Club, '17-'18

RAE, MARGARET

*"A little learning scattered o'er
A trail of four years or more,
Then—Presto, change—and you create
The sober college graduate."*

It was in Toronto that Margaret made her initial appearance, and in time entered Harbord Collegiate. Entered Varsity to swell the ranks of Moderns 1T8 and is very popular with her fellow-students. She has never allowed her studies to interfere with her education.

RAMSAY, WILLIAM V.

"Hath his bellyful of fighting."

In 1891 at Londesboro, Ontario, "Bill" became the joy of the manse and, strange to say, determined some time to occupy one himself. For this Ottawa began his education and Varsity got the job of finishing it. Enlisted in 5th University Co., P.P.C.L.I., on December 9, 1915. Wounded on July 13, 1916, at Ypres, and returned in time to finish with '18

RICHARDSON, FRANK W.

"A lawyer art thou—dare not nigh"

Frank hails from the West. Was prepared for matriculation at Red Deer High School, Alberta, and Harbord C. I. Entered University College in Political Science with 1T8. Expects to continue his studies at Osgoode

RIDDLE, WINNIFRED C.

*"Who wants a friend
Let him be a friend"*

Born in Toronto. Education at Harbord Collegiate and University Household Science. She plays a little, works a little, smiles more than a little. Generosity, kindness and unselfishness are her weapons, and she uses them to steam the hearts of all who know her.

ROGERS, FRANKFORD E.

*"A little blame, a little fame,
A star-gleam on a stone."*

To his loving memory. Born in Ottawa, April 20, 1897. Matriculated in 1914 and entered the "popular" course, which he honourably pursued to the end. Departed this life May, 1918, to the realms of law, beloved and respected by all who knew him.

SALTER, W. RALPH

"Youth shows but halt . . ."

Came from Parkdale Collegiate to exercise his intuition in Political Science, Queen's Hall and affairs generally, thereby winning the two first scholarships, the Ellis Medal, the Political Economy Club presidency, highest honours and truest friends.

SAMPSON, R. ALAN

"There is much in a name"

Born at Toronto 1895; attended St. Andrew's; edited THE VARSITY; Secretary of Permanent Executive; studied Political Science, hopes to enter Osgoode; a budding bachelor (?) yet, despite all, a cheery soul. Long may he live!

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

SCHOTT, MAXWELL

*"He was little,
He was wise,
He was a terror
For his size."*

Assets: A curly pomp, wit, a good sense of humour and a congenial "pal."

Liabilities: An inveterate smoker, a "fusser" and a dance fiend.

SHARP, DORATHEA

"Nec vixit male qui natus moriensque fefellit."

Born in London, England, in the 1890's. Entered Varsity in 1914, and from that time forth has found a source of intense blessedness in philosophy.

SIMPSON, WINIFRED N.

"Enthusiasm is the Genius of Sincerity."

Winifred Simpson, after sampling several Public and High Schools, entered Varsity with the year '18. One of her chief interests is Athletics, having been Captain of the Hockey team and President of the Athletic Association.

SINCLAIR, MURIEL G.

"A true friend were hard to seek."

An honour graduate of Parkdale Collegiate, Muriel entered Household Science with the class of 1T8. She proved herself an able student and one worthy of her position on the Permanent Executive.

SKENE, M. VERA

*"Her years are young, but her experience old,
Her head unmeliorated, but her judgment ripe."*

Born: At The Manor, Hillsdale, Ont., 1897

Matriculated at Ilwaco, Ont., 1913.

Course: General.

Hobby: Pink Toes.

Remarks: Served on Y.W.C.A. Cabinet 1915-16. Does she ever talk?

SMITH, ALICE I.

*"A little time for laughter
A little time to sing."*

Alice hails from Jarvis C. I., entering Moderns. Bright, energetic, with ready Irish wit, she soon endeared herself to many friends. As fourth year Rep. on the Woman Students' Council she showed her executive ability. "Smiddy" was one of the bright lights of 1T8.

SMITH, HELEN M.

*"Fire in each eye and papers in each hand,
She raves, recites and maddens 'round the land." Pope.*

Prologue: Seven scholarships

First Act: First Class.

Second Act: Second Class.

Third Act: Third Class.

Epilogue: One human being.

SMITH, KATHLEEN

"But how in such short space can one describe her excellencies!"

Graduating from Parkdale Collegiate with honours, "Kac" successfully sought higher knowledge in the Household Science Course. Her bright and cheery personality has won for her a host of friends.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

SMITH, LEONARD

"You are the type the age is looking for."

Graduated from Jarvis Collegiate. Arts and Theology taken concurrently preparatory to work in the Anglican Ministry

SQUAIR, MARION R.

These I have loved:
A puck and stick on good keen ice;
A striking part to play; a field to hoe;
Long walks on country roads,
Cool water and the "crawl";
Classes in Spanish; songs in French, the plough;
Let me have these and earth becomes Elysium.

STOBIE, HAZEL

*"She has wit and song and sense,
Mirth and sport and eloquence."*

At St. Kitts C. I., Westminster College.
This blithesome maid first sought her knowledge—
Varsity Moderns, then General, '18.
On Class Executive; in Dramatics keen
Head Girl "No. 9," Queen's Hall elected.
A brilliant future for this B.A. expected

STUART, NORMA K.

*"A smile for all, a welcome glad,
A jovial cooing way she had."*

Varsity and Queen's Hall welcomed Norma in her second year General, after Mitchell and Stratford had done their best. Varsity rink and the numerous parties of "the Bunch" counteracted the plague of her life—labb.

SWEET, JOSEPH A.

"All the Latin I construe is 'amo,' I love"

Born in McKeesport, Pennsylvania, January 21, 1897. Honor matriculation Hamilton Collegiate Institute, 1914. Entered the Political Science course in the same year. News Editor of "The Varsity," 1917, and became Managing Editor in the spring term of 1918. President Menorah Society, 1918. Osgood Hall next.

TANTON, E. ISABEL

"To find the bottom of the well Where Truth is hidden."

After spending two years at Western University, Isabel brought to 1T8 her mathematical mind. The Class Executive of 1916-17 numbered her among its own. We shall always remember her good judgment and sincere friendliness.

THOMPSON, J. CARL

"Drink deep, or touch not the spring of knowledge."

Carl entered upon the primrose path of life near Stayner. Graduating from Collingwood Collegiate, he attended Faculty in 1911-1912. After two years of kid-walloping he joined '18 in order to delve in Physics.

WALLACE, OLGA A.

"She makes a friend where'er she goes."

Olga received her early education at St. Joseph's Academy, later joining the ranks of 1T8, Household Science. She has admirably combined academic with athletic abilities, being a member of the Athletic Executive.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

WHITE, MARY OLIVE

"Music was her fairy godmother" and dowered her with such gifts of harmony as were manifested not only in melodious sounds, but in her even temper and amiable disposition. Educated at Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Moulton College, Toronto. Musical Director, ITS.

WILEY, NORA R.

"Thus doth she move about us day by day, Loving and loved."

This is the keynote of Nora's philosophy of life. Born in Toronto, attended Jarvis Collegiate, entering Varsity, joined Student Volunteer Band, of which she became Vice-President in graduating year.

WILKINSON, R. WYLIE

"Who can tell what subtle smile Doth lie behind that wily smile?"

The smile first radiated at Galt, April 26, 1896. Early discipline (?) at G.C.I. Hockey ability, with weakness for championship teams; Varsity I., 1915; Junior O.H.A., 1916. Executes on C. & F. Club and Permanent Executives. Normal tendency towards fussing.

WYLIE, MARGARET C.

*"The Gods approve the depth
And not the height of the soul."*

Delight in growing things; a course in science, love for teaching; a sense of humour — what qualities could better augur success in the West Margaret's chosen home?

YOUREX, ISABELLE C.

"For her fate gave a nature Sloping to the Southern side."

This merry maid was born at Keen, matriculated from Norwood High School and entered Varsity in 1914 where she made her life one sweet record of deed and charity.

Class 1T8 History

Like many another class that has gone before, the time has come for us to conclude the chronicles of our undergraduate days. Like them, we might tell of our class parties, our receptions, our athletics; the year has not been lacking in class spirit. But the significance of our story lies in facts far other than these. The whole course of our University life has been spent under the shadow of war. Ninety-nine of our number have gone to serve their country overseas. Some have returned, their duty done. Many more will not return. Others of us, women and men alike, have turned to work in munitions factories and on farms; and ever-present knitting needles remind us that the chief concern of our girls is the welfare of the boys "over there." This final chapter of the undergraduate history of the Class of University College 1T8 we dedicate to our comrades on active service:

Class 1T9 History

"Learning is ever in the freshness of its youth even for the old."
—Aeschylus.

"And history with all its volumes vast Hath but one page."

One might well be forgiven for supposing Byron to have been on the editorial staff of Torontonensis, so aptly do his words apply. For "but one page" have we, and our sole problem is how to condense the activities of so notable a body as the year of 1T9 in so small a space.

Our third year and our third pair of spectacles through which we look at college life. The hopeful vivacity of our first and the complacent progress of our second year are no more. Complexity has gripped us and our only hope lies in our fourth year. Let the moralist teach us his lesson!

It is impossible to be normal in such abnormal days, for our class has breathed no college air that was not heavy with war. This year, however, the machinery of the University runs more smoothly. There has even been a happy revival of the much-lauded but very elusive "college spirit." Coming back last fall, we were impressed with the new vitality we found in the old societies of U. C. New societies have also been founded, among others "Le Club Politique," which is composed of men students of 1T9 registered in Honour Constitutional History. But there is a lighter side.

With the respect for wisdom (and age) which has always characterized our year, we decided to follow the precedent set by 1T8 and forgo our usual class reception, not that sociability has been discouraged—far from it! Very successful class parties have already been held at the Union, and plans of a strikingly original character are entertained for the future.

Amid all the activities in class, college and university, 1T9 sometimes gasps—C. O. T. C., Victory Bonds, T mixers, Woman Suffrage, Union Government, Snowbirds, Y. M. C. A., all claiming our attention—O, yes, and we almost forgot—our inspiring lectures!

But amid them all, amid all the opportunities which we are enjoying, we are not unmindful of the members of our Class who are sacrificing these opportunities in order to seize another and a higher opportunity not vouchsafed to us. To them our thoughts go out in greeting "from 1T9 at home to 1T9 abroad."

Class 2T0 History

2T0 came back to college after a very strenuous summer. For the women's part their experiences of the holidays had been many and varied. The call for National Service workers had come before college closed, and many volunteered, anxious to do their bit in winning the war. Farming appealed to some, munitions to others, but in both kinds of work the women showed themselves capable of taking the places left vacant by the men enlisted for service overseas. Since entering upon their second year the women have shown great interest in various college affairs and have taken an active part in the "Lit," the Dramatic Club and Y. W. C. A. work. Especially noticeable was the part they played in the Fruit Pickers' entertainment, held at Convocation Hall, the proceeds of which were given for the relief of the Halifax sufferers.

As far as the men's activities are concerned, the Class of 2T0 in its second year has shown quite as much initiative as even the most sanguine-minded had hoped for. Of course the C. O. T. C., with its military drill, agility exercises, and the special physical training at the gymnasium, affects this year as well as the others. At the big "T"mixers held in the Central Y. M. C. A. 2T0 men have been quite conspicuous. The Melting Pot entertainment, in which the University College "Singers of the Sunny South" was so much enjoyed, had a considerable number of our men in its cast to help make it a success.

We believe that our year has not been outdone by others in the proportion of its men who have withdrawn from college life for war service. The Royal Flying Corps and the University Training Company have claimed the greater number of these recruits. There are just forty-eight men in our year, but these, who have been unable to enlist, have at least exhibited the proper patriotic spirit at home. In the recent campaign of University men organized to sell Victory Bonds, the men of the year showed the greatest enthusiasm, and as a result of their work brought great praise to the University through the head of the Victory Loan Committee.

As far as the social side of the second year is concerned, the programme decided upon was a series of class parties instead of the usual class reception. This change was made in order to lessen the expenses of the year, and the first of these entertainments was held at the Women's Union. All present enjoyed themselves either dancing or playing cards and hoped for the repetition of such an evening several times throughout the year.

The Women's Undergraduate Association of University College

Six years ago the W. U. A. was formed, for the purpose of developing a spirit of unity among the women of University College. Since the formation of the Association many changes affecting the life of the women undergraduates have taken place. The greatest of these changes has been the institution of that haven of women students, the Union. By providing a suitable meeting place, the Union has removed the chief obstacle in the way of the accomplishment of the purpose of the W. U. A. The executive of the Association is endeavouring to interest and to unite the students by arranging a programme of meetings at which the political questions and patriotic needs of the day are considered.

Following the example of the preceding year, a series of Red Cross teas are being held at the Union. In order that the women may gain a knowledge of the political questions of the day, and so exercise their newly acquired right of suffrage intelligently, speakers are being secured to address the members on political subjects, such as "The Canadian Franchise Laws."

The system of monthly contribution to the Red Cross, as established by the executive of last year, is being continued. Donations from the students are collected regularly by the treasurer of the W. U. A. and handed over to the Red Cross.

Some meetings are being devoted to the promotion of interest in National Service work. The Association hopes, by presenting the urgent need for workers on the farm and by the enthusiasm of those who were engaged in this sort of labor last year, to be able to enlist a creditable number of volunteers from the College.

Thus the W. U. A. is striving to carry out its old ideal of unity, and with it a new ideal—that of patriotic service.

Anglican Women's Club, 1917-18

The Women's Anglican Club was organized in the year 1908, for the purpose of promoting friendly feeling and comradeship among its members.

Fortnightly social meetings are held, alternately at the Church of England Deaconess House and the home of the honorary president. At these meetings Red Cross work is done, and occasional addresses are given before the members.

A new feature, introduced this year, is the Sunday afternoon Bible Study Class, which has proved of interest and enjoyment. Although the membership is not large, active interest is displayed by the members, and the club is thriving.

The Women's Literary Society of University College

Modern Authors was the general theme undertaken for the year, and the enthusiasm of the members has proved that it was a subject of universal interest. As the subject was one which required pioneer work, it was decided to ask the professors to address the meetings. No special development of thought was adhered to, as the executive thought the addresses would be even more inspiring if the professors chose the men in whom they were most interested.

The following are the speakers and the subjects which they chose. Dr. H. T. B. Clark spoke on "The Conundrum of the Workshop," the new conception of Art as set forth by Croce; Dr. Alexander on "J. M. Synge and the Irish Theatre"; Dr. Fairly on "Joseph Conrad"; Dr. Gordon on "George Meredith"; Professor DeLury on "Irish Mysticism"; Professor Kennedy on "Mrs. Meynell"; Dr. Wallace and Professor Will on different phases of War Literature. Each address was full of interest and inspiration.

Two plays were given before Christmas, illustrating the modern stage, "Rosalind," by J. M. Barrie, and "A Pot of Broth," by W. B. Yates.

The Alumnae Night this year was particularly successful—a play forming one of the chief features.

All the meetings have been held in the Union, and although it meant crowding at times, it was worth that small inconvenience.

The time-honoured institution of the Literary Society, the Autumn Tea, was handed over to a joint committee of the different societies in the College. It was felt that, as it had become an inter-society function, it was not fitting that the Literary Society bear the whole burden of the expense.

The results of the short story contest, the title of which was "Puppets All," were beyond expectation.

Queen's Hall

Queen's Hall

Miss L. Livingstone

Queen's Hall! What a world of meaning lies in those two words!

Before coming to college we looked forward with much anticipation, and a great deal of awe, to the new life which was opening before us. Gradually, as we began to feel ourselves members of this Association, we lost this feeling of awe and gained in its place one of respect for the institution and that for which it stands.

Here our sense of responsibility is developed by our self-government; high and lofty are our ideals, and deep and sincere are our friendships.

The war has necessarily curtailed many of our social functions, but the most enjoyable still remain, namely: the seniors' initiation, the Guy Fawkes party, and the seniors' dinner. In place of the functions which have been forgone, others of a more serious and yet enjoyable nature have been introduced, such as our successful shower and tea given in aid of French war sufferers. Many an otherwise idle hour is employed in knitting and other Red Cross work.

We are very fortunate in having for a Dean one who takes such a deep and personal interest in the Hall and in its individual residents. Being herself a graduate of the University of Toronto, Miss Livingstone is in sympathy with the girls in their every joy and sorrow.

Each girl as she enters in her first year finds that within the portals of Queen's Hall a warm welcome awaits her, and when these portals close behind her for the last time she feels keenly the loss of all that she is leaving.

Girls may come and girls may go, but Queen's Hall will continue in spirit at least, and though these walls may crumble, others will rise in their place, and so we may truly say,

"The Form remains, the Function never dies."

The Modern Language Club of University College

The activities of the Modern Language Club began by a tea at the Union to welcome back the old members and to extend a cordial invitation to the Freshies. Such enthusiasm was aroused that the membership list rapidly increased until now it numbers seventy-five members.

The subject for the year has been "How the Geographical Conditions of the Romance Countries Affect the Temperament and General Characteristics of Their People." Italy, France, Spain and England in its relation to the Continent have been duly discussed in interesting papers, and have been supplemented by slides, dances in costumes and discussions. Musical selections too have helped to make the evenings enjoyable. Representatives from the sister colleges were invited to the English Evening, which was held at the Union. This year the old idea of having the students read papers has been revived and has proved very successful—it has meant the hearty and loyal support of the members to make it so.

As the professors have so kindly continued to offer their homes for the meetings the executive has been able to maintain the social character of the meetings. It has been very gratifying to see so many of the professors showing their interest in the Club by attending the meetings. It has been of great benefit to the students to meet them socially.

The Annual French Play was held November 22nd at the Academy of Music, 12 Spadina Road, and was very successful. The play that was represented was "Les Romanesques," par Edmond Rostand. Violin and vocal solos, dances in costume and several orchestral selections contributed to making the evening an enjoyable one. The proceeds, which amounted to twenty dollars, are to be sent to France in aid of the war sufferers.

University College Women's Athletic Association

Although the number of girls who are joining the Athletic Association is increasing every year, it is hoped that the time will come when every girl will belong. For it is an organization that depends entirely on the support the girls give it, and if you do not turn out for practices the teams cannot be expected to win. Or if you cannot come to practices, at least come to the games and support your own team; it helps a lot.

Last year U. C. won the cup for tennis and one of our girls came among the first three in the swimming contest. Although U. C. did not come first in hockey, a very good showing was made. There was a three-cornered tie and U. C. lost to St. Hilda's.

So far this year our teams have not been successful, but we hope to make a good showing in hockey and swimming.

To the Graduating Class of Victoria College

By Chancellor Bowles.

Chancellor Bowles

The greatest treasure Victoria College possesses is the love and confidence of those who go forth from her halls to live their lives in the service of the truths and ideals received in their college training. It were a strange thing indeed did students leave their Alma Mater and cast no "longing, lingering look behind." There is no more blessed life than college life. Its pursuit of knowledge (the phrase is now old fashioned, almost obsolete), its preparation for the great work of life, its associations, inspirations and friendships, its traditional sentiments, all conspire to raise it to a place of its own. The loyalty and devotion of the graduates every college looks for as a part of its exceeding great reward. The class now going forth from Victoria—the sixty-eighth in her history, I believe—will not fail to tell the praises of their Alma Mater, and that not in words only, but in the spirit of their lives and the purposes to which they give themselves.

It will be expected of you that you fill a good place in the community. To live secluded, selfish, narrow lives, after sharing in the broader outlooks which are given to University men and women, would be anomalous indeed. So too would it be to be insincere and unreal after years of training of the mind in a search for truth and reality. In addition to the acquirement of a certain amount of technical and other sorts of knowledge Victoria cherishes a well-founded hope that her graduates will have attained the simplicity of sincerity and the largeness of an intelligent and sympathetic relationship with the greater causes and interests of humanity.

To bid you, on behalf of your College, farewell brings a feeling compounded of pleasure and pain—pleasure that your course is now happily completed and a goal you have striven toward reached, pain that happy associations are about to terminate—a deeper pain that so many brave young men who had hoped to be counted with you have answered a sterner summons and now are fighting their country's battles or are numbered among our sainted dead, whose names when the war is over will be written in a record of imperishable honour.

May you who go forth this year be stronger to endure and conquer in your life struggle because of those of your classmates who already in the great cause have endured unto the end.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

AUSTIN, MARY E.

"Is she not pure gold?"

Pressed for time to attend lectures, Mary has been able to efficiently preside over the Patriotic Tea-room and organize the Social Service work of the "Y" with enthusiasm. In spite of a loving regard for her own opinion, her true-blue qualities and charm of manner have won for her many loyal friends.

BINKLEY, HAROLD C.

"Even though vanquished, he could argue still."

Calgary found a tiny place for "Hal" February 2, '97; Hamilton, a larger; then Vic. claimed his executive ability for Lit and Acta. A dash of spunk and an air of finality presage his further success.

BLATCHFORD, DOUGLAS H.

"I love my songs."

After a checkered career as a student at Essex and Clinton Collegiates, and as a teacher, "Doug." came to Vic. in '14.

Understands baseball, football, hockey, tennis, chess, checkers and marbles, but cannot play them.

Much sought after by both ladies and gentlemen.

BREARLEY, EARL W.

*"Reading maketh a full man, conference a ready man, and writing an exact man."
"I've lived and loved."*

Born in Brantford, 1891. Spent boyhood on the farm, youth in business. Abandoned this to prepare for larger service. Matric. Woodstock College, 1913. Established his home in Toronto and entered Victoria in 1914. The ministry will claim his attention after graduation.

BROWN, B. IRENE

"I" is for the imp that sparkles in her eye
"R" is for her readiness for fun;
"E" is for her energy in learning to make pie,
"N" is for the (k)nitting she has done,
"E" is for Elgin House for which she's very keen;

Put it all together, there's Irene.

BROWN, GEORGIA

*"Serene and resolute and still,
And calm and self-possessed."*

Georgia is a faithful student, and possesses a kindly disposition, also a generous amount of good sense. She is highly esteemed by her friends for her constancy and depth of character.

CLEAVER, HAZEL J.

"For every wherefore she has a why."

When not busy cooking, Hazel has been engaged in many College activities. Her last year she made a tactful and just head of the Hall. But all her duties did not prevent her having time to read, think, and cultivate true friendships.

COOK, WILLIAM A.

"Myself when young did eagerly frequent Doctor and Saint and heard great argument."

"Benelick the married man" Aspired to learning. Brantford Collegiate, Albert College and Victoria fanned the spark. 'Tis microscopic still.

"And what is writ is writ Would it were worthier."

VICTORIA COLLEGE

CROCKER, KENNETH J.

His fellows call him

Bucked over the birth line December 14th, 1893. Matriculated Parkdale, 1912. Entered Victoria, Class '16, good sport; year man; jovial. Enlisted '15; France 1916 to '17; returned '17. Ken will continue to buck and fight in the domain of law.

DUNDAS, A. MARION

*"Friendship indeed was written not in words
And with the heart, not pen."*

Marion hails from Peterborough. Quiet, she refuses to be a "lime-lighter"; kind-hearted, affectionate, generous, she is a born lubricant, cherishing the belief that "All that repays for the strife of life,
Is helping some soul in trouble."

DYKE, EDYTH M.

"Thy wit is as quick as the greyhound's mouth—it catches."—Shakespeare.

"Dykie" never had to wait until the next day to think of a "come back." All through her College course she had all that she prized, laughter and thought and friends, in plenty.

FLANDERS, BEATRICE

"No stone is so hard to find and not to move."

Taking Honour Matric. at London, Beatrice came to Vic. to swell the numbers of ITS. Leader of the Government, Secretary of Debating Union, a member of both Choral Club and Dramatic Society, she has also made all the College teas and won her "T" what more could one ask of the girl!

FRID, ROY W.

"Full of life, he hurries with contented air."

His course has been unopposable, left handed, and triumphant ever since its inception, Hamilton, October 18th, 1893. With most College honours, from scrap-leaderships to Hebrew prizes, a man popular with professors and teachers.

GALE, OLIVE

*"The desire of the moth for the star
Of the night for the morrow
The devotion to something afar
From the sphere of our service."*

A small person, known and yet unknown; a fighter against circumstances, courageously fashioning life to ideals and not ideals to life.

GREENAWAY, C. R.

*"A chief's amara you takin' notes
And, faith, he'll prent it."*

Roy is well known for his excellent work with Acta, in "Locals," and as Editor-in-Chief. Attended Oakwood Collegiate; Honour Matriculation, 1913; English and History (Mods.).

Says, like Mantlin,
"My life is one dem'd horrid grind!"

HALFYARD, LEVI

"Tell truth, and shame the devil."

Enthusiastic in moral causes, vivacious and spirited as the breezes of his native Newfoundland, "Levi" has by courses in Arts and Theology fitted himself for his life-work as a "fisher of men."

VICTORIA COLLEGE

HENRY, MAMIE E.

"What's the use of worrying?"

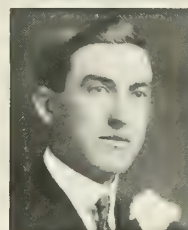

First saw the light of day in Thornton, Matriculated from Harbord, 1913, and came to "Vic." with class '18. Infected with a sunny smile and Irish wit, Mamie has become a general favourite.

JEFFS, EULALIE L. M.

*"I come from haunts of 'oo' and hen,
I make a sudden sally,
To grasp with glee my fountain pen,
And round professors rally."*

The Household Science course is a good field for the exercise of Eulalie's practical mind. Her work is always well-done, but she's ever ready for fun.

JOHNSON, ROY GARDINER

"Tis time, I think, to trudge, pack and begone."

With Paradise dissatisfied
He sought the West, more stirring;
But there for higher learning sighed,
And to the East returning
His days he spent with Hobbes and Locke
His nights in social talk

LANG, ROSS S.

*"His heart was in his work,
And the heart breatheth grace in every art."*

First great event Kirby, Ont. Early education at Newcastle and Bowmanville, Victoria I.T.S. P. and B., prominent in Athletics, holder of Athletic stick, member of Class Exec., Tennis Rep. Medicine is Ross' ambition. A brilliant future awaits him.

LONGWORTHY, EDITH M.

*"Ever able to serve a friend
And noble enough to conceal it."*

Edith Longworthy came from the West, Sports, Lit., Y. She went into with zest, At last in old Vic. She became Senior Stick, The future will tell us the rest Moderns '18.

McCONNELL, VON

Recit. (Solo):
Nights of mirth:
Sad awakenings
Long after the roll-call,
To-night the rink, a magazine
Full of little mottoes for my wall
De Goethe, lying dusty and forsaken?

McDONALD FLORENCE C.

*"Out where the sun shines a little brighter,
Out where the hand clasps a little tighter,
That's where the West begins."*

A loyal daughter of the West, and Prince Albert in particular. Shy and retiring at first, she has proved a jolly comrade and true. She found time from her pursuit of Household Science to play on the Basketball Team in '16.

McFARLANE, RUTH

"A fire's in the heart of me."

A Westerner, full of life and ambition;
A rebel, hating non-essentials;
A philosopher, seeking to prove the unprovable;
A friend, steel true.
Add to this enthusiasm, strength, courage and it is Ruth

VICTORIA COLLEGE

MARTIN, CAROLINE J.

"Keep on the sunny side."

Carrie is a good sport, capable of doing things and discussing anything from politics to Presbyterianism. She never worries or labours and comes right side out every time. Good luck to her.

MORRIS, NELSON D.

"He is what you behold him, and his doom Depends upon his deeds."

Nels. entered Vic. with 1T7, but seeing the need of good men in 1T8, he decided to help them out. From Biology he transferred to B. & P., where, as a scientist, he has already earned the title of "la crème de la crème."

MYERS, EVA

"Her heart was in her work."

Eva is endowed with two noble desires, viz.: to acquire knowledge, and secondly, to impart it. Her teaching ability has been much appreciated in the Western provinces. At Victoria, she has astonished her class-mates by her thorough originality and unique logic.

PEARSON, FLORENCE E.

"Exceeding wise, fair-spoken and persuading."

From the Manitoulin Island
Came this cheery northern maiden,
Came to Vic., which gave her knowledge,
Came with snowshoes, skates and racket.
Every ready with assistance
In the Lit and Y and Tea-room,
Tho' her work she ne'er neglected,
She was always helping others.

PEARSON, LIDA B.

"I am resolved to grow fat and look young in forty."

From early youth Lida has been a "five wire," and her originality and energy have always been at the disposal of others. Besides her class and College work, she is President of University Athletics. Her spare moments are occupied by "Lit.," Athletics and a little human intercourse.

PFEIFFER, J. MILTON

*"Desiring this man's art and that man's scope
With what I most enjoy content at least."*

March 29th, 1892.....
.....1918. "And now am I, if a man should speak truly, but little better than one of the wicked."

ROACH, EDITH E.

*"The reason firm, the temperance will,
Endurance, foresight, strength, and skill."*

Edith has all these, combining to make up a good student, jolly comrade and loyal friend. A varied school career, Jarvis Collegiate, and "Moderns," has been her history.

ST. JOHN, HELEN B.

We mention not the honours twain
Her class on her conferred,
For bouquets always gave a pain
And brick-bats were preferred.

And tho' she used to spiel at Lit.
And dabble in the arts Dramatic,
She only tried to do her bit,
A super's part—a gent rheumatic.
Moderns '18.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

SACKETT, JULIA

*"The gentlest flowers that grow
May hold communion with the rocks below."*

Julie is a loyal daughter of U.S.A., but has lived many years in Canada. From Prescott she came to Vic., to be eagerly welcomed by I.T.S., Y.W.C.A., Students' Council and Aeta have profited by her labours. Her ready wit does not preclude serious thought

SHAVER, LILIAN

"Airy, fairy, Lilian, Flitting, fairy Lilian."

In Lilian's calendar there are no dark days, for she carries with her the radiance of a sunny smile and a cheerful spirit. Into her work and play she throws her boundless fund of enthusiasm and humour. Household Science is the most fitting sphere for (her enthusiasm)?, her optimism and her winsome, womanly charm. Future success seems assured—"She has a way"

SHEPPARD, NORRIS E.

"A little woolly, but not all sheep."

The (X+1)th problem for humanity what will be the future of July 20th 1897? Helpful hints. Educated in Hamilton: Senior Matric., 1914; M. & P. Scholarships, 1916-17; Opposition Leader, U.L.S.; Member of Class Exec.; M. & P. Society Pres. Athletics—The "joker" with kings and queens. Solution "Future bright, the past all understood."

SMITH, DORA V.

"Age cannot wither, nor custom stale, her infinite variety."

One of Dora's main assets is her sunny smile. Her pet aversion is Latin. She plays tennis, hockey and swims well. After midnight she can write very acceptable stories and articles.

SMITH, ROSCOE H.

"The force of his own merit makes his way."

A son of the parsonage and a matriculant of Simcoe High School. He likes such a variety as Orientals, Political Science and General Course. His ambition is towards Pulpit Gymnastics.

SPARLING, HELEN J.

"I always said you had a kind heart, though you have a spice of the devil in your disposition."

Helen will return to Penbrooke with "small Latin and less Greek," but an overwhelming knowledge of tennis, hockey, feeds, and Patriotic tea-rooms.

SPARLING, VERA O.

"Stern is her air, but gentle is her heart."

A strong personality and the qualities of leadership have enabled Vera to meet the responsibilities of office as President of the University Women's Administrative Council and also of the Victoria Students' Council. Combined with this, an understanding sympathy has won for her the admiration of many and has endeared her to those who know her best. Course—Honour Household Science.

STEVENSON, ARTHUR B.

"Pursues the even tenor of his way."

August 5, 1898, ushered him into a parsonage near Lake Nipissing. Renfrew and Orangeville Collegiates prepared him for College. Treasurer U.L.S. 1916, member of Y.M.C.A. and Athletic Executives. Graduate in M. & P. before 20th birthday. Enlisted Divisional Signallers May, 1917, VICTORIA.

VICTORIA COLLEGE

STRANGWAYS, RUTH

*"Strong in will,
To strive, to seek to find and not to yield."*

Such was the ambition that led Ruth from Albert College to the halls of Victoria where her bright nature and varied talents promise for her a successful future.

TALBOT, MARGERY F.

*"She has wit and song and sense,
Mirth and sport and eloquence."*

After London Collegiate and Western University "Marge" entered Vic as a Fresh-Soph. Displaying her many talents in many ways, she played leading roles in "Every-woman," "The Rivals" and "Overtones," while the appreciation of her musical talents was shown by her Presidency of the Choral Club.

TICKELL, JOSEPHINE

"Still rivers run deep."

Neither whirlpools or rapids characterize Josephine, but beneath a calm exterior moves the forceful undercurrent of grit and understanding which means depth. Belleville High School and Victoria College will never blush for her.

WALKER, MAY

*"A smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts and calm desires."*

A modest little prairie anemone, May felt the breezes of Saskatchewan in her babyhood. Oakwood Collegiate and Victoria College have "done their bit" to fit her for a life of usefulness.

WATSON, EULALIE E.

*"She taketh delight in Household Science,
She is counted to cook for two."*

To a certain amount of reserve add a double quantity of good nature. This blended with a willingness to help and seasoned with a pinch of pep gives us Eulalie a combination that has proved very appetizing to us.

WATT, GRACE A.

"Let her speak and whate'er she say Methinks I should love her all the more."

Graduating from Yale H. S., Mich., Grace became popular at Vic. because of her enthusiastic support, first, of Athletics making the Basketball Team, '16. Then in '18 she was President of the Dramatic Club, which was organized through her efforts.

WHITE, J. ERNEST

"His fleece is white as snow."

Orangeville saw the genesis of his career. He absorbed all the intellectual culture public schools and collegiates could give and came to "Vic," entering the M. and P. course, Class Executives and the Students' Council he has served well. He was called to the Presidency of the M. and P. Society, and of the Class, but the call overseas was louder. "Every lassie loves a soldier!"

WINTER, ANNA E.

"There's not many tinas dat gals won't do."

From the famous Galt Collegiate, Ann came to Vic. with her pluck, ability and readiness to see the rift in every cloud. In Household Science, as "Wealth" in "Every-woman" and President of Y.W.C.A. she has proved herself an all-around girl and a true friend.

Annesley Hall

Class 1918 History—Victoria College

Young 1T8 came tumbling into the lap of its Alma Mater with a lusty yell in the lag end of September, 1914—as fine an offspring as maternal heart could desire. Like all babies, its head was large, out of proportion. But in a week it had its eyes open, and from that time its course has been triumphant. Every class in the history of University life has claimed supremacy for itself; 1T8 has in every encounter irresistibly, incontrovertibly and irretrievably “licked the other fellow,” and has passed through Victoria consuming all before it.

In many things we were no exceptional class. Our first yell was long enough to tax the capacity of a Zeppelin. Our first president undoubtedly wrote home to acquaint his relatives of his appointment, with scarcely less dignified pleasure than if he had refused the chancellorship of the College purely upon principle. We had hikes, and enjoyed them in true college fashion; and skating parties which hardly depended even on the weather for their success. We were not “Too bright or good

Our position is unique among the classes of Victoria. A strange destiny has placed us in such a position that we have received the full sweep of widely changing conditions. We entered just at the outset of the war. Conditions were normal; few considered the prospect serious. We alone of all the classes graduating from Victoria have run the whole gamut from a flourishing, happy, freshman year to a sober and decimated group of seniors. Our numbers in 1914 were 140, of whom 95 were men, 45 women. The fall of 1915 found 96 sophomores back in college halls, with nearly as many women as men. The call of the war became so strong that our third year had only 25 men and, for perhaps the first time in Victoria’s history, the girls of the class outnumbered the men. There were 33. Now there are 46 of us to emerge among the elect and carry through life a university degree; and 15 of us are men and 31 of us were very exacting upon the photographer.

But in spite of such disintegration we have been able to retain our identity. The personality of our class is bound to remain with the memory of the deeds of prowess of our male members and the originality and enthusiasm of the others. During our third year the women of the class presented the drama “Everywoman” to two large audiences. They earned real praise, while accomplishing something of monetary value.

Whether we fully appreciate our national position as we leave these halls is a matter for each of us individually to decide. In the face of our depleted numbers we are forced to consider facts that cry aloud. Our heads bow at the memory and mention of C. E. Patterson, H. S. Dowson, R. I. Poast, T. V. Sparling and W. K. White—all members of our year, who have added an eternal sanctity to our halls by the noble sacrifice of their lives for a cause which we believe to be just and righteous.

To the Graduating Class of Trinity College

By Provost Macklem

Provost Macklem

The Graduating Class of 1918 is the smallest which Trinity College has known in many years. It numbers eleven women and one man. And if he had been eligible for military service overseas, there would not be even one male graduate. Is it necessary to tell in detail the story of the men who are not graduating this year, but who would have done so under normal conditions? They have won their place among the heroes of Canada. Some of them wear their laurels to-day with befitting modesty; others have left for their memorial a little wooden cross here and there in the military burying grounds behind the battle lines. Some of these men had in their college days looked forward to serving God as ministers of the Gospel, while others were preparing to serve Him and their country in other walks of life. In ways unforeseen all of them have served God and country faithfully and well.

Heroes of Canada! Such heroes are the most precious product of these years of the fire of war, when the furnace of human trial and forging has been heated seven times more than it is wont to be heated. They constitute the wealth of personality issuing forth from the fires of warfare, even as pure gold issues from the refining furnace.

Scoffers have declared that morality is a question of latitude; and thinking men who are not scoffers have said truly that the Northern races of mankind have developed more virility and nobler characteristics than have the Southern races. The discerning historian of Canada in years to come will record three stages in the development of Canadians, in the years when the moulding forces of this fair young land were forming the character by which the name of Canada should go down in history. First, the long and hard struggle of the early settlers, when the severity of the climate and the colossal task of subduing nature to their service produced a virile race characterized by the fundamental virtues of truth, purity, honour, and mutual helpfulness. Later, a stage when true progress was halted by abounding prosperity and increasing wealth; when deterioration set in with the growth of luxury and the selfish pursuit of personal aggrandizement. And after that, the period ushered in by the world war of 1914, when the cry of the Mother Land, ringing like a tocsin through all her dominions overseas, and the voice of God in the souls of men reverberating through the changed atmosphere of unselfish pursuit and high endeavour, roused the youth of Canada to a nobility which this generation had not known before, and to a life of service worthy of the grandsires who begot them and of the women who bore them.

War may be hell, as it has been called; but even hell on earth (which is the only hell we know well enough to dogmatize about) becomes heaven's opportunity sometimes. And truly the hell of Ypres and Langemarck, of Courcellette and Festubert, of Passchendaele and Vimy Ridge proved the birthplace of these heroes of ours, who showed themselves, as they faced that hell, worthy to be called sons of God and defenders of the kingdom of heaven.

Some of these heroes are the men who would have been numbered on the roll of graduates of Trinity College in 1918. Let us pay them the honour which is their due; our tribute of admiration and gratitude; and let those of us who remain at home see to it that our Colleges and Universities in the years to come are worthy of these hero-sons.

The Book of the Acts of '18

Now it came to pass in the year 1914 great trouble came upon Trinity and an appeal was sent unto all the land.

And lo, there came men from the East, from the West, from the North, and from the South.

Such a mighty host was not seen since the College was founded. Men there were of talent, students, athletes; yea, and mighty men of valour.

And it came to pass that when old Trinity saw this mighty host advancing, great was the joy thereof. Verily the Dean and the Provost received them with open arms.

But when they were all settled in the Jag House there arose revolts and rumours of revolts.

Now the Head of the Second Year was a stern man, and when he looked and saw some worms that were unruly he said, "I will crush, I will subdue, I will destroy."

And he sent and had brought to him the Head of the First Year, and these are the words which he spake unto him:

"Now, oh thou Tapeworm, prepare, prepare to meet thy doom. By reason of the great folly, boldness and conceit of some worms the great and terrible anger of the Second Year will be visited upon you to-morrow night, and you shall be punished for the ways wherein you have transgressed.

"Thou shalt go down to Sheol. There shall be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. Prepare ye, prepare ye, to meet your doom."

Such was the message of the Second Year to the First Year.

Now it happened that the Dean of Arts was an austere man and would not listen to the supplications of the freshmen to be allowed out to go to the place, the place appointed as a place of meeting. To all their entreaties he turned a deaf ear and he commanded that the door of the Jag be locked.

But a great determination took possession of the freshmen and, like St. Paul, they were let down through a window.

And when they had got down through the window they were met by the Second Year and were taken to the place appointed as a place of meeting, to the Valley of Dry Bones.

And such things happened as is not lawful for man to write about, but the memory of which remaineth unto this day.

And it also happened that a short time afterwards, on the first day of the week, that all were awakened early in the morning by the breaking of glass and the sound of many bottles.

Now it came to pass that rumours of all these tumults came to the ears of the Dean of Residence. Now the Dean of Residence was fat and well-favoured and was also an austere man, but mightier than the Dean of Arts.

The Dean of Arts fined Dollars, but the Dean of Residence fined Tens of Dollars.

And he sent and gathered about him the members of the First Year. And there was great fear and trembling among them.

And he spake unto them and said, "What is this thing that ye have done? Verily ye are worms and no men. Ye are the scum of the earth. For these and your many transgressions ye shall surely be fined." And it was so.

And there arose great indignation among the men of the First Year, but it availed nothing.

With many like trials and tribulations the year passed. But it was a happy and a memorable one. Such was the opinion of all.

The great year '18 was the last to spend the freshman days in the historic Jag.

During that year Hays, Scott-Kerr and Clark, men of valour, hearing the call of duty, girded their loins and went to war, the great war beyond the seas.

And it came to pass that when we returned for our second year it was found that our numbers had grown less.

Brooks, Thompson, Nicholson, Wallace, Sim had also gone to a far country and were soon after followed by Osborne, Waddington, Wilson, Charlesworth, Geddes, McCarter and Musson.

Moreover, McGarvah and Orechkin did cast longing eyes in the University College and did betake themselves thither. In which place they remain unto this day.

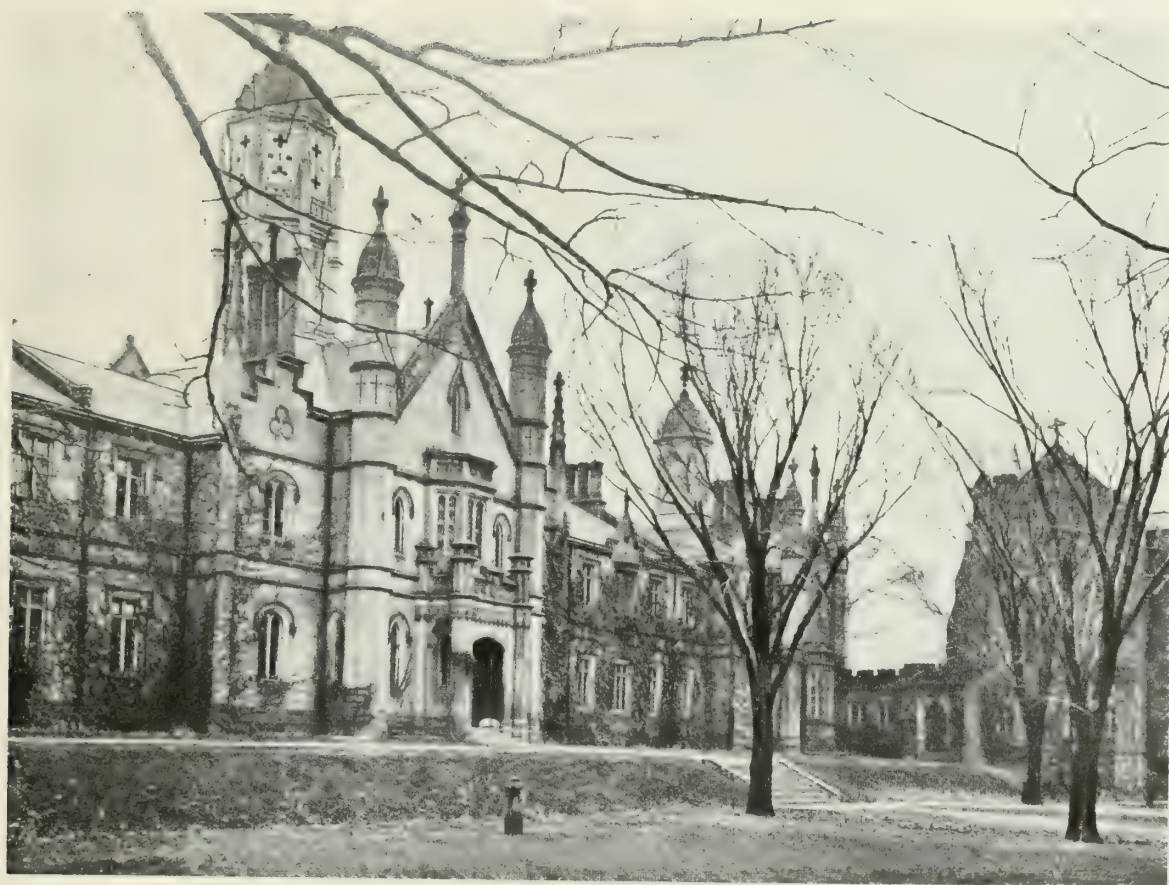

Now the ladies of '18 were young, comely and fair to look upon and found favour in the eyes of all men. They have distinguished themselves in athletic, literary and academic circles.

The acts of the whole year, both here and overseas, which if they were written every one, I suppose that even the Library itself could not contain the books that should be written.

Now the smile of the Provost and the blessing of the Trinity of Deans be with you all "Salute all the saints of the House of St. Hilda.

Salute every one with a holy kiss."

To the Graduating Class of St. Michael's College

By Father Carr

Father Carr

Graduates of Nineteen Eighteen! You are leaving the College and University after four of the most precious years of your lives. Your parents have for many years watched you grow and develop in body and mind. They looked forward to the day when they could give you the best in the land in the way of education. In most cases it was their ardent desire to see you provided with advantages which they themselves lacked. This desire for and veneration of knowledge seems implanted by nature in the human breast. The average man does not analyze closely; he feels that a man of knowledge has a big advantage over him, and yet he cannot say what knowledge is. He believes that university men are experts in the work, and without hesitation he hands his child over to them to receive an education. University men themselves are not so sure that they know the business of educating youth. It is true that even in the realization of any of the many conflicting theories on education, experience seems to prove that the educated man stands a better chance in life's competition than his uneducated neighbour, still the thinking educator seriously wonders whether the responsibility cast upon him has been properly discharged. All agree that, in spite of the fact that nearly all aspirants for university education have as their motive material success in life, the standard of good education is not in this. Education should help to bring out the potential good in man, good for himself, good for his fellow man. Morally and religiously, I should be inclined to hold that lack of education does not hamper a man. By this I mean that the individual man can work out his own salvation as well on the traditional morality of his fathers and his church unassisted by higher education. True education creates a new interest in the problems of life, increases our own capacity for happiness, but, above all, and this I should place as perhaps the chief function of education, it benefits our neighbour and the race in general by the diffusion of that inspiration which, I think, must necessarily result from a taste of the sweets of higher thought.

And can you say on your graduation day that the money sacrificed on you (yes, and often a great sacrifice it is) and the years spent here have brought you a return? If you have sufficient interest in any of the problems you have met to find a pleasure in hearing them discussed, there is some hope. But this is not much, for you will never be an inspiration to others unless such thoughts arrest your attention and interest so that you naturally think on them all by yourself. You will then inevitably talk of them to others.

Frankly I am not optimistic about what the average graduate carries away from the university. Let it be said of you at least that you are not so wedded to your opinion as not to be willing to listen to another man's. Be sure you have knowledge before you are positive, and where you haven't knowledge be willing to follow faith.

Since one of the greatest, if not the greatest, benefits of education is the boon it proves to other men, what other graduates ever had or ever will have such a field for labour as now, when every day the field of slaughter robs the world of its finest jewels in the brightest intellects. What a loss is there! You must do your best to fill a place of someone that has fallen. More, even though they were all still with us, see the increased work of good to be done.

It is my fervent wish and prayer that you prove worthy of the responsibility you have assumed, that Canada may be proud to call you her own, that your university and college may point to you as honoured alumni and that your lives may show that the simple Catholic piety and faith of a child may endure in the hearts of leaders of men and of thought.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

ANDERSON NEVILLE M.

*"His shall be the light of science to restore
And bid Barbaric darkness flee away."*

Born in Co. Cork, Ireland. Early education at St. Mary's High School, Hamilton. Came to St. Mike's and enrolled with Class '18. Although his hair is auburn, Andy is of a genial disposition. On First Rugby Team.

FLANNERY, MYLES B.

"He is an evening reveller, who makes His life an infamy, and sings his fill."

Myles is a man o' the North, his native place being North Bay, where he was born May 24, 1896. Matriculated from North Bay High School, 1914, then joined Class '18 at St. Michael's. Vice-President of Students' Council; philosopher. Chief dissipation, dancing.

GALLEGAN, FRANCES

*"A creature not too bright or good
For human nature's daily food."*

Far-famed Eganville was the seat of her early education. Just for a taste of Varsity life she came to the Queen City. She has had a most successful course. In dramatic work she has distinguished herself as Phoebe and as Herma.

GILMOUR, KATHLEEN

"A friend, noble and sincere."

Born in Toronto. Ever a true and loyal pupil of S. J. C. and one of its Junior Graduates in 1914. Entered the General Course for '18, choosing science options where possible. Always zealous, aspiring and beloved, tender and true and brave.

HODGINS, MARY

*"A smooth and steadfast mind,
Gentle thoughts and calm desires."*

Born in Toronto, Mary Hodgins received primary and secondary education in Newmarket. Inspired by high ideals, she has pursued her course at St. Joseph's College with success. Her kindly disposition and gentle manner have won her many friends, whose good wishes will follow her in the future.

KELLY, AILEEN M.

*"...od's noblest work
A woman perfected."*

Thorold was her native town and the scene of her early school days. After having matriculated from Loretto, Hamilton, she joined the ranks of Loretto College students, the love and respect of whom she has ever held through her ready sympathy and charming personality.

KORMANN, GERALDINE

*"Her every gesture said 'rejoice'
Her coming was a gladness."*

Native place, Toronto. A Junior Graduate of S. J. C. in 1915. Returned to St. Joseph's in the Class of '18, General Course. An earnest student, loyal to Alma Mater. Cor. Sec'y of Newman Club for 1917-18. Possesses the rare charm of sweet, amiable simplicity.

McCLELLAND, ALICE L.

*"That graceful ease, and sweetness and of pride,
Would hide her faults if she had faults to hide."*

Alice was "born and bred" in Toronto, where, at Model School, Lillian Massey Institution and Loretto Abbey College, she has trod the flowery path of learning. It is even too meagre a tribute to rank Alice as one of the grandest characters in our College.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE

MCDUGALL, C. JOHN

"I long for a repose that ever is the same"

The name of Glen Robertson was made secure when it became in 1899 the birthplace of "Micky." He attended Alexandra High School and matriculated at Ottawa University. In 1915 he joined Class '18 in St. Michael's. He represents St. Michael's on the Students' Administrative Council.

MACAULAY, KATHLEEN M.

"A lovelier flower on earth was never sown."

Kathleen was born in Franklin. It was after her graduation from Stirling High School that she came to Loretto Abbey College. Throughout her academic and College course her thoughtfulness and consideration of others have been her dominating characteristics.

MADDEN, EDNA

"Here buds the promise of exceeding worth."

Edna received preparatory education in her native town, Penetanguishene. She joined the 1918 Class at St. Joseph's College, and has always easily achieved success. Field sports and music have contributed pleasure and enlarged the educational development of this gentle endearing girl.

MURPHY, MADELEINE

"On every mountain height Is rest."

Native town, Carleton Place. Obtained Ent. to Faculty at S. J. C., 1914. Returned to St. Joseph's and entered "Moderns," '18. Has won the College Scholarship each year. A representative in debate, in the Women's Council and on the editorial staff of "St. Joseph Lilies."

O'LOANE, JOHN HENRY

*"I love tranquil solitudes,
And such society
Is as quiet as a room."*

John is a Toronto product. He received practically his whole education at St. Michael's. Matriculated in 1911, and his thirst for knowledge led him to join Class '18. Jack has a special liking for Philosophy, football and rugby. President of the College Students' Council. If his future can be judged by past performances, it certainly augurs well.

O'SHAUGHNESSY, WILLIAM J.

*"Why William, be not thus alone
And dream your time away."*

Native place, Geneva, N.Y. Present residence, Hamilton, having moved there in 1909. Matriculated from Hamilton Collegiate, 1914, and joined Class '18. "Shag" works when he has to and specializes in German, Italian and handball.

SULLIVAN, BASIL F.

"He makes friends where'er he goes"

Born at Mount Carmel. College course at Assumption College, Sandwich, Ont. After graduating from Rhetoric Class, 1T4, joined Class of 1T8. Unruffled demeanour and ready tact have made for him a host of confidential friends. Success in his chosen profession is assured.

TWOMEY, GENEVIEVE

"Versatile, ingenious"

Fondren Falls claims our brilliant President as her own. After a few years of schooling there, she went to Loretto Convent, Guelph, and finished her academic education at Loretto Abbey. She has shown her genius not only as a student but also by donning the attic buskin and by warbling to the Lesbian lyre.

Class 1918 History

"A man's reach should exceed his grasp,
Or what is a heaven for?"

It is that spirit which Browning expresses in these words that has brought and is bringing men and women from all parts of Canada to the various universities. It is a spirit that refuses to be satisfied with the common things of life and seeks with an unconquerable zeal the higher. It refuses to recognize dangers or obstacles as insurmountable, and unhesitatingly attacks them all. It is the same spirit that moved the men of ancient times to undergo all the dangers and perils of travelling at that time and caused them to forgather in Athens, there to drink in the learning and wisdom of learned and wise men.

Let us turn back to that fateful year of 1914—a year of great import to the whole world. In that year the new class of 1T8 gathered at St. Michael's, a class of men and women who had come from far and near, eager to take advantage of the higher education which was afforded them by a college that was their own and to prepare themselves for the positions which would be theirs, as graduates of the University of Toronto. Thirty-one young men—the light of battle in their eyes—betook themselves to their new task with a gravity that the awful events of those days inspired. What a class was there! In the lecture-rooms, the members of 1T8 upheld the high standard of former years. Many shared in the great triumph of that year, when St. Michael's were the Intermediate Rugby Champions of Canada. The unprecedented events of the fall of 1914 gave an opportunity to the class to distinguish themselves in a military way, and the campus and Niagara Camp saw St. Michael's men doing their bit in the C. O. T. C. At St. Joseph's College and Loretto Abbey the feminine members of Class 1T8—blushing freshettes—soon became accustomed to their new life and longingly looked forward to the day when they should be stately and serious graduates. At St. Joseph's this newest class numbered seven, and at Loretto Abbey six. To relieve the monotony of lecture and study, social festivities were indulged in and enjoyed to the full. National Service was a feature of the year in both Colleges.

The first sorrow came to Class 1T8 when they reassembled in October, 1915, and noted the ravages which even that short time had wrought. Many of the best known and oldest members of the Class had left it forever and it was impossible to fill their places. But consolation was soon forthcoming when the Class learned that Ottawa University had suffered to their advantage. Three members of that University came to St. Michael's and joined Class 1T8. At Loretto Abbey also a friend and class mate was missing, but despite this the Class had a successful year. A Dramatic Club was formed and its initial production was that of "As You Like It." The Class at St. Joseph's suffered the loss of two of its members. A Literary Club was formed, which held many successful and instructive meetings. But all else was overshadowed when the Grim Reaper made his appearance and St. Joseph's lost a true friend and a devoted teacher in the person of Sister Austin.

In their junior year the Class was still further reduced in numbers. Though two more members were missing, the Class was still of medium size and carried out their duties as understudies of the graduates with becoming dignity and success. To offset the lack of numbers, an admirable class spirit and loyalty arose, which was a result of this apparent defect. This session was marked by a signal success in the winning of the Kerr Shield, emblematic of the championship of the Intercollege Debating Union, which was won by St. Michael's for the first time. Class 1T8 had the pleasure of seeing one of its members on the winning team of debaters. The Juniors at St. Joseph's College were mainly occupied with Red Cross and patriotic work during the year. Loretto Abbey took part in the organization of the Intercollegiate Debating Club, as a result of which inter-class debates were held.

Though Class 1T8 had already suffered the loss of a great number of its members, the cup of its sorrow was not yet full, for in October, 1917, it was perceived with the keenest regret that four of the most popular members of the Class were absent. However, the duties and obligations which fall to the lot of a graduating class soon turned the thoughts of all into new channels. A very important work of the Class in this, its final year, was the organization of St. Michael's Students' Council, which, it is believed, will fill a long-felt want. The time of the students at St. Joseph's College and Loretto Abbey is taken up very much by patriotic work and with preparations for the coming graduation.

At last, after a rough and thorny journey, Class 1T8 is at the parting of the ways. The days of college life are drawing to a close and a true feeling of sorrow comes over all as they realize that soon those who for four years have been true and loyal friends must part, and every member of the Class unites in wishing his fellow-graduates the greatest happiness and good-fortune in the future.

Convocation Hall

To the Graduating Class of Medicine

By Dean Clarke

Dean Clarke

It is not a difficult matter to address the Graduating Class of 1918, as their path of duty is so clearly blazed by the classes of the last three years. All that remains for me to do is to point to the glorious deeds of graduates who have added glory to the reputation of the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Toronto—as well as enhanced the good name of Canada. This country has now established its right to be called a nation. You realize to the fullest extent, no doubt, that just as much is expected of you as was expected of those who have justified the confidence reposed in them, and no one believes that you will not live up to the splendid traditions which inspire you.

Your education has been acquired during strenuous days, and possibly your course has not been as complete as it would have been in antebellum days, but the practical experience the majority of you will get overseas will be of inestimable value in fitting you for your life work. It has already been discovered that the student who goes to the front, serves for a time and then returns to complete his studies, comes back apparently much the worse for his experience, but in a short time it is learned that he has developed the serious part of his nature to such an extent that he soon recovers all that was lost, and eventually surpasses his earlier record. In other words, war is useful in developing character.

Now that you have been lectured to so constantly for five long years and crammed so full of advice, it would ill become me to add "the last straw" to a burden that can, in many respects, now be lightened rather than increased, because much of your training was, after all, intended merely to teach you the habit of acquiring knowledge. Medicine is a profession of ideals and practice, and unless you go forth determined to keep up with the kaleidoscopic changes which revolutionize Science so often, you will surely fail. Remember, too, that after the war this continent is to become the scientific centre of the world, the young men are to be the leaders in the advance, and young Canadians have on their shoulders the responsibility of keeping Canada on the firing line.

MEDICINE

AGNEW, G. HARVEY

"He hath made many friends."

Harvey was born at Toronto, 1895; President Literary Society, Humber College; Scholarship first year Medicine; Class President; Chairman Daffydil Committee; President Medical Society, and member of A. O. A. Honor Fraternity.

AITCHESON, W. STANLEY

"When one woman has deceived you Quickly love another."

Made his debut in Elora, 1892. Matriculated from the Elora High School. Cast in his lot with Med. '18. Stan's quiet humour and pleasing manner have won him the good will of all. Treasurer of graduating year.

ALTON, JOHN A.

BENTLEY, GEORGE A.

*"Here's to smoke and never the blues,
A pretty girl and lots of smoke."*

Geo. first experimented with the mechanism of respiration in Port Arthur. After getting his early education there he decided to enter Medicine and enrolled with the Year 1T8. He twice played rugby on the winning team in the Mulock Cup series, where he proved himself as good a sport as he is a scholar, and his friends all wish him the success that his enthusiasm and ability foreshadows.

BENWELL, CHARLES EDWARD

"And he could even heal a broken heart."

It happened in Rocky Bruce, Dec. 16, 1890. In 1900 blew to Saskatchewan. Matriculated, taught three years, and then being found in possession of certain sums of money was sentenced to five years' hard labor at Medicine.

ROLES, WILLIAM P.

"It's a great life if you don't weaken."

"Hap" got his start in Stratford on a 4-7-1 mixture. Chases Dip. Bugs; the Puck; Players; Aces; and one woman. Has the coveted "T" for Hockey, and his friends all predict that he will score heavily in Medicine.

BOND, C. ERNEST

*"Good goods are done up in small parcels."
—Old proverb.*

Galt's aspirations to be a city began on "Bondy's" arrival there in 1894. Drank G. C. I. dry of knowledge. Pooled. His fate with 1T8. His geniality will always strengthen the Bond of friendship.

BOYD, GLADYS L.

"Nothing is so strong as gentleness, nothing so gentle as real strength."

Bachelor of Med-itation
Inspector of Braincells.
Demonstrator in Industry.
Director in chief of the Undergraduate Medical Women's Council.
Yet not too intellectual to be human "Ike" and the year 1886 began life simultaneously. He spent his early days between the plow handles near Stratford. Medical Representative to Osgoode; Member Alpha Omega Alpha Honour Fraternity; President Student Volunteers; Preaches for recreation.

FARMER, GEORGE R. D.

"Awake the pert and nimble spirit of mirth."

Tradition has it that he smiled, walked, and played chess on his natal day, Oct. 18th, 1896, in Ancaster. He walked through U. C. C., "chessed" his way through the University, and intends to smile his way through life. Member of the Honour Medical Fraternity.

FEADER, HARRY

*"Feader is his name
And feed-ler is his nature."*

Plain Harry Feader made his debut at Toronto University 1913. After a strenuous rotation experience, he became desirous for a higher profession. With the permission of the military authorities to finish his last year, he is now ready to do his little bit.

FINDLAY, CHARLES A.

*"His honest, cheerful, modest face
I've seen him friends in every place."*

Born at Manotick in 1896. Raised on the farm. Educated at Kemptville High School. Agriculture couldn't hold him. Entered Medicine 1913. Graduated with the best wishes of everybody.

FLEMING, R. J. MORTIMER

"I work when I can, and when I can't, don't."

Mort. was born in St. George in the distant past. Graduated from Jarvis Street Collegiate and entered Varsity with Meds. '15, but dropped out at the end of his second year, re-entering with class '18, where he has become a general favourite.

GAMEY, LYMAN ROSWELL

"A merry heart doeth good like medicine."

Born Sept. 23, 1890. Son of late R. R. Gamey. Member of A. K. K. Frat. Graduated from Gore Bay Collegiate in 1906. He entered '15 Class of Varsity Meds., but was forced to drop out at the end of his fourth year on account of sickness. He re-entered '18 class and has become a friend of all. We wish him every success.

MEDICINE

GARBUTT, CHARLES T. P.

*"My only books
Were woman's looks,
And folly's all they've taught me."*

History of present illness—Sudden onset, Sept. 5, 1889, at Aurora. Rapid development at Madoc H. S., complicated by term at Calgary Normal School, and four years' teaching. Localizing symptoms appeared in 1913, when he joined I.T.S. Absence of vocal impairment demonstrated in Medical Quartette clinic. Prognosis excellent.

GEDDES, WILLIAM A. S.

STUART, L.M.

"Long Boy"

"Jynx" received his preliminary training as a wit and munition-worker at Galt, Ontario. His ready smile and keen sense of humour made him very popular, not only in his own class. His success in Medicine is assured.

SULLIVAN, HERBERT

*"His roguish eyes turn to a modest gaze
By the sweet power of music."*

"Herb" was born and brought up in Bruce Mines, where he matriculated. Mined one year and taught three years before entering Medicine in October, 1913. Med. Rep. to Students' Council, '14 and '15. Musical Director of Med. Society, '15 and '16. President of year in '16.

TOMLINSON, NELSON F.

*"A kind and gentle heart he had,
To comfort friend or foe."*

Ontario County claims Nelse as its son. He was known as the brightest pupil in Uxbridge High School when he was devouring Caesar there. He attended Faculty in 1908-'9, and in '11 he entered Medicine. Nelse has an unusual depth of "grey," and we are confident that he will reach a prominent place in his profession.

TUCKER, RICHARD M.

*"His cogitative faculties immers'd
In cogitundity of cogitation."*

Born Oct. 26, 1894. Matric. at Welland High School, 1911. Entered Medicine, 1913. Enthusiastic member of Med. Orchestra.

VALENS, ASHLEY W.

"A man he seems of cheerful yesterdays and confident to-morrows."

Born in Bruce, 1883; to Saskatchewan 1894. Later, Brandon Collegiate and Regina Normal. Some years teaching at Lamont, Alta. Three years Medicine at University of Alberta. To Toronto with M.B. Overseas on graduation.

MEDICINE

VAN ETTER, OMAR

"Labor et honor omnia vincunt."

Omar was born at Wardsville, Ont. Is one of those modest, industrious men who can be counted on with certainty to win solid results in life. We expect to hear of him again.

WAGNER, LE ROY

"With malice toward none, but charity for all."

Born in Kitchener, Jan. 8, 1893. He received his preliminary education in the city's schools. A year at Stratford Normal School and a year as a pedagogue preceded his career at Victoria.

WALKER, FRANK N.

"Why fret about tomorrow if today be sweet."

He started his journey on a sunshiny day in August. Entered the shadows of Brampton H. S., 1908. Came out of the shadows with Matriculation, 1911. Hoping to be a bright and shining "light," he entered Victoria College, where he spent two dull and cloudy years. In 1913 he had a vision of a brighter career and entered Medicine. He is still following the "Vision."

WERDEN, WILLIAM A.

"Vive Napoleon."

William A. Werden, born in Toronto, 1882. Matriculated from Woodstock College, then, saturated with knowledge, he decided to enter Medicine, from which he has great hopes of graduating in the course of time.

WEST, S. E. T.

"Hurry! Contentment is ambition's dope."

Born in Angus, 1889. Matric. Barrie Collegiate. Entered Faculty of Medicine, Toronto, 1913. Sacred to his memory are many incidents of the following five years, and incidentally many others hard to forget.

Dean Ellis

To the Graduating Class of Applied Science

By Dean Ellis

Each undergraduate who enters the University has a three-fold duty to perform. A duty to his parents and himself, a duty to the University, and a duty to his country.

I take it that you, when you have completed your course with credit and satisfied the requirements of your instructors, may be considered, as undergraduates, to have fulfilled the first of these duties.

As for the second, your duty to the University, each graduating class leaves the University either better or worse for their sojourn within its walls. It was your duty to leave the University better than when you entered it. That you have done so cannot be known until your successors show that they have been influenced for good by your example while here and by the memory you leave behind you. I hope that it will prove in this way that you have done your duty to the University.

These things are now beyond your control. When you leave us your duty as undergraduates has been done or left undone. As graduates your duty to your country lies before you. To her you owe the privileges you have enjoyed here. Some of those who entered with you have died for her. It remains for you to live for her.

Live to show that you yourselves, your University and your country are the better for the years you have spent here.

BALLINGER, JOHN G.

"Respect every man's opinion—act on your own."

John G. was born at Streetsville, Oct. 16, 1894. Streetsville High School and Humber-side Collegiate Institute gave him his early training. The 1T7 electricals were his former companions, but he stayed out a year to finish with a decent class.

DUFF, C. KENT

"Early to bed, and early to rise, Makes men healthy, wealthy and wise."

Arrived in Hamilton, May 25, '96. Left H. C. I. with honour standing in Faculty entrance, and honours each year has been his specialty with 1T8 electrical. Treasurer of Science Y and member of Torke-Orchestra. Although a bashful "fusser," we predict for him a brilliant future.

ELLIS, FRANK D.

"There's nothing half so sweet in life As Love's Young Dream."

Thomas Moore.

It was a beautiful morning in October, 1896, when Frank's innocent personality was brought into this wicked world. Showing marked intelligence at frequent intervals, he was sent to the Technical High School, and in 1914 entered School with the Civils. He was Captain of School's Mulock Cup Rugby Team and also Civil Rep. on the Engineering Society.

FAIRCLOUGH, HERBERT W.

"What's in a name?"

Was born in Hamilton in 1894. He matriculated from the Hamilton Collegiate Institute in 1912 and entered School as a Civil in 1914. Commonly known to School men as "Pee," he carries with him then best wishes to the railroad world.

FRASER, RODERICK A.

"O, to be in England!" Browning.

In May, 1915, Rugby, hockey and absence from lectures proving monotonous, Roddy departed for France. However, while serving with the Divisional Signallers a dispute with a Hun shell enabled him to return and dig for knowledge instead of cover.

HANCOCK, CLARENCE W.

"Quiet waters run the deepest."

Born in Hamilton, Nov. 5th, 1891. Left H. C. I. with Junior Matriculation, and, wondering what next to do, finally became absorbed in the contemplation of test tubes and entered S. P. S. with the Chemical Engineers of 1T8. Third Year, Vice-President, and Fourth Year, President of the Industrial Chemical Club. Wide-awake and ready for business.

HYMAN, BENZION

"It is never too late."

Being brought up in a Russian "gymnasium" under the oppressive regime of the Czar, he came to Canada in 1914 to enjoy the free life of the Canadians. He entered with the Fourth Year of the University of Toronto in the S. P. S. in 1916. Sickness, however, compelled him to stay out that year, but he did not lose his nerve and came back to complete his technical education.

JOHNSTON, FRED E.

"I only shall not give up hope, Till I prove the theory of the gyroscope."

Fred commenced his career July 12, 1893. Left Ridgeway C. I. with a strong determination to pursue the paths of science, so wandered into S. P. S. with the Electricals of 1T8. Always a friend when needed, and an enthusiastic supporter of all activities around "School." Pastime—Arguments and the laches. H. will make a promising engineer.

McDONALD, NORMAN G.

"Time wasted is existence, used is life"

Mac hails from Sunderland, matriculated from Beaverton in '11, was green at Varsity in '14. Spent his strenuous, but successful, summers in Peterboro making "pills" for Fritz. He goes. "Good luck"

McLEOD, EARL W.

*"Though sometimes seriously inclined
He has a humorous frame of mind."*

Jan 21, 1893, was the eventful day. Earl bro, the place. "Mac" completed his course at Woodstock C. I. and London Normal; then entered S. P. S. with the Electricals of 1T8. President of the Electrical Club, Jr Section, 2nd year, and of the Sr. Section, 4th year, and also a live-wire in "Y" work.

MADDOCK, CHARLES O.

Three men went out a-hunting
In eighteen-ninety-six.
Until they came to Inwood.
And there they found this fix.
"He'll be a farmer," quoth his uncle.
And his granddad didn't say nay.
But his daddy said he's an Engineer
If I can find the way.

MENDIZABAL, A. RANULFO

"For distinguished conduct in the field"

Best known to 1T8 men and by them great ly missed when called to his Bolivian home. A Varsity "T" holder, gymnast and wrestler. A man whose sense of justice weighed the personal sacrifice of war against the broad principles at stake, whose generous nature sent him overseas a private artilleryman and who returns home with corporal stripes and D.C.M. men for active service.

MITCHELL, ROBERT C.

*"Justice strongly acclaims his choice
Not is he led captive by the common voice."*

"Mitch" was ushered into reality at London, Ont., had enough "Scotch" to bring him to the top, forcing his way into the world not unknown, and after teaching school for two years, landed at S. P. S. with '18 Civils. Scratch him in the right place and you find a jolly good friend.

ORR, W. HAROLD

"He's little but he's wise, He's a musician in disguise"

Harold came into this world in 1896, and with few exceptions has remained here below ever since. Four years at Toronto Tech. failed to satisfy him as to what made the door bell ring, so he entered School with the '18 Electricals. At School his quiet, consistent manner, coupled with his ability on the xylophone, has won for him a host of friends.

PEARSON, GRANT P.

*"Twenty years from now, maybe
I will look with love upon his map."*

Grant was washed on the good folk of Schomberg, 1894. Attended Pickering College, 1911-13. Came to "School" with '17 Civils, but stayed out a year to finish in good company. Mixed up in all kinds of sport, and won his "T" for hockey. Member of Fourth Year Executive. A worker, athlete and friend. Here's to you, Grant

ROBERTSON, W. DOUGLAS

*"A villain, that is hither come in spite
To scorn at our solemnity."*

Entered this vale of tears at Toronto, May 27th, 1896. Educated with difficulty at University School and T.C.S. Pres. Sketch Club, '18. Represents the Mechanical Class for 1918. On view in Thermo Building after 11 a.m.

ROVSKY, JACOB

"Veni-Vidi- Vici."

First traces of "Jake" are found in 1888, in Volynia, Russia. Appears again in Canada in 1907. Comes straight from the ranks of labor to "School" by reason of hard work, assisted by private tutor. Though foreign to our ways, a good "scout" and with the boys in everything. He'll succeed.

SAGAR, WILLIAM L.

*"His talents were for music rare,
His singing made the boys all swear."*

"Siss" commenced activities on this planet in Toronto, 1895, and has been going strong ever since. He matriculated from Jarvis C. I. and entered "School" with '18 Civils. He has taken an active interest in athletics and executive work, being elected President of the Fourth Year. Always comes up smiling, and will go far if not pinched for singing.

SAMUEL, MAXWELL

"High Ambition and deeds which surpass it."

"Sammy" first burst into song in London, 'arf the bloomin' world, 1896, but finally landed in Toronto, 1905. Matriculated from Jarvis C. I., and entered "School" with Civils, '18, where he took honours annually. Played rugby, and hit the line hard in everything he undertook. Leader of Civil's draughting-room choir and on Fourth Year Executive. Pax vobiscum Sammy.

SCOTT, CECIL R.

"I have taken my fun where I found it."

Arrived on "terra firma" at Richmond, Ontario, 1892. Blew into S.P.S. with '18 Civils. A true school man, he has always been an ardent admirer of the fair sex.

SHEPLEY, JOSEPH G.

Born in Essex County and educated at Essex High School, affectionately called Gore, in preference to the more plebeian name of Joseph. For three years at the School he studied mining and "other things" along scientific lines, and after three years' practical experience has decided to drop the "other things" and enlighten the world along the line of flotation. Without any reference to his military standing, this boy is A1.

WOONTON, W. GORDON

"When the waters rolled back and earth did appear"

The Lord He created the Engineer."

The year 1896 was hailed into existence by infant squalls from the victim of this portrait. A genial youth, popular no doubt—Pres. of "Y," Treas. Eng. Soc., Head Usher Convocation Hall, etc., etc. Electricals, '18, claim him. Best of luck "Gord."

Class 1918 History

Two months after Great Britain declared war on Germany we, the individual members of the budding Class of 1T8, filed into the Secretary's office in the C. and M. Building to be enrolled and pay the required deposit. Unacquainted with the peculiarities of this new educational life before us, we, no doubt, possessed an awed and bewildered appearance, which we endeavoured to conceal under a mask of calm confidence, especially to those more advanced students whose critical eyes were directed to the latent possibilities in the new freshman year.

As a result of the declaration of hostilities and the financial stringency that followed it, we numbered but one hundred and thirty men in our first year. In spite of this, however, we mustered sufficient forces to accept the annual challenge of the sophomores to the inter-year contest, commonly referred to as the "scrap," which took place on the back campus. Notwithstanding the disadvantage of our short mutual acquaintance, we battled against our opponents successfully for a half an hour, at the end of which we all possessed an outward appearance of striking similarity, namely, liberal applications of shoe-blackening and a shocking lack of habiliments. It was a "grand and glorious day," and there has not been a "scrap" equal to it since.

Shortly after this episode the voluntary military drill commenced for the students under the direction of the C. O. T. C., of which, all our Class took advantage with few exceptions. Slowly but surely we became acquainted with the requirements and benefits of college life and were soon able to withstand the withering gazes and ironical remarks directed our way by sundry profs. when we arrived late for lectures. The days flew by, one by one, until April—ominous and threatening—was upon us. Some of us were forcibly introduced, for the first time, to our promiscuous collection of notes in the plugging process that foreran the exams. Others, placing their patriotic devotion before self-advancement, enlisted in the overseas forces and were given their year.

The following September our year reassembled, but considerably reduced in numbers. However, the old "school spirit" was still alive, as frequent lively and exciting events fully proved. As sophomores we displayed greater dignity as such and assumed an air of profound and superior wisdom, calculated to impress the verdant "frosh." We spent as much time as we dared in the smoking room, reading the latest jokes in the humorous publications and worrying the piano when so disposed. Our lectures this year assumed a more engineering aspect and were less like the High School lessons of the first year. At the completion of the last term a number of Class members, having received special drill in the C. O. T. C., were sent to England and given Imperial commissions.

With our ranks now reduced to about forty men, our third year started off well, but was marred by an abundance of work, which was projected at us by the unfeeling staff. Our year passed quietly, however, as the other years had also decreased in size. The University was closed for nineteen days in January due to a coal shortage, but by doubling up in the Thermodynamics Building we managed to squeeze in odd lectures. Again the annual spring grind was prepared for and passed through with more or less uncertainty and apprehension, and we were free once more.

Upon our return as seniors to our old haunts—there being twenty-six of us altogether—we found our familiar corners had been taken over by the military authorities and converted into a School of Military Aeronautics. Our former lecture rooms, study rooms and even our smoking room had been taken over by the invading hosts of the R. F. C. The remaining few of our year were forced to take our lectures in the space that was spared us. An innovation this year was the compulsory military and physical training required of all students. Two nights a week saw each one of us reporting for drill, from which benefits will no doubt result. Our theses caused us considerable worry and effort during the first term, and as the closing months of the second term arrive we look back on our four years' sojourn here with a feeling of regret that we will not pass through it again.

The valuable assistance given and interest displayed by the Dean and professors of our Faculty in our Class throughout the course has always been a source of pleasure to us, and their patience and kindness on our behalf will always merit a sense of gratitude.

To the Graduating Class of Dental Surgeons

By Dr. Seccombe

Dr. Seccombe

The chief history of a class of students in the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario is the same as that of any other similar body of students among the warring nations; one of sacrifice and devotion to duty.

When the Class of 1918 entered College there were ninety-two members, and now, as the final examinations approach, there are less than a dozen. During the first year seven members enlisted, leaving eighty-six to enter the second year; of these fifteen enlisted during the session, and three others during the following session. Messrs. Dalrymple, McGuire and Greenwood made the supreme sacrifice for their country on the fields of Flanders.

So as to hasten the date of graduation of Dental students, that they might the better serve their country, a special Summer Session was conducted. Sixty-four members of the Class of 1918 availed themselves of this opportunity to become prepared for practice. The remainder, together with returned veterans, make up the Class of 1918 as it is to-day.

A large part of college education is obtained by contact with fellows. This part of education has its greatest influence when there are few distracting elements from outside. In this respect the Class of '18 lost much, because, during all their course, there was constant change, turmoil and disruption. Every young man seemed to be just awaiting the time when he might join with his comrades overseas. With all the distractions of classmates leaving and returning, classes being rearranged, course changed, and professors leaving for the front, the Class of '18 has still held together, what is but a mere remnant of a once large body.

No class of Dental students have had a greater opportunity for developing self-reliance and individuality. In the present chaotic condition of society, industry and education, young men have a wonderful opportunity to rise from their surroundings into positions of leadership. When the members of the Class of '18 find their places among the men and women of this nation their influence will be felt for good in matters of Church and State. Each year graduates in Dentistry have a higher goal to reach and greater responsibilities to assume. If each man of this class has the vision and lives to attain it, the College, the University and the Profession will continue to be proud of the Class of '18.

BARRY, FRANCIS H.

"Prudence, caution, self control is wisdom's root."

Was first heard of in Barrie, Ont. Has since mastered the art of making friends. With a mixed career of educational, civil, military, and social experience, he was Vice-President of Freshman Year, President of Senior Year, and Editor-in-Chief of the Hya Yaka.

BOYD, ARCHIBALD W.

*"When time and circumstances suggest,
He shall not fail to do his best."*

August 6th, 1895, was heralded in Copper Cliff, Ont., by Archie's infant roar. Creemore Collegiate furnished the key to R.C.D.S. Absented himself for a session after his Sophomore Year, and returned to join Class 1T8. Representative of Track in '17, Treasurer "At Home" and President of Y.M.C.A. in '18.

FAUMAN, ABE S.

"Music hath charms."

Born in Argentina in 1894. Matriculated from Hamilton Collegiate. Entered R.C.D.S. in 1914. Leader of Orchestra, '14-15. "At Home" Committee, '16. Hya Yaka Staff, '17. His entrance into Dentistry will be a mutual benefit to him and the profession.

HENDERSON, HUGH K.

"Try anything once."

Born in Beaufort, S.C., August, 1893. Educated at Prescott. Entered Dentistry with '15, graduates with '18. In the interval roughed it in Northern Ontario. Has amended somewhat to the refining influences of College life. Held a few class and School Executive offices.

HUMPHREYS, ELFORD V.

"Dosen with referendum, see want conscription."

Markdale, Ont., declared a holiday on Dec 9th, 1895, on his arrival. Matriculated Pickering College, Newmarket. Entered Dentistry with Class '17. Went overseas with 67th Battery, 1916, discharged a year later. Vice-Chairman "At Home" and Secretary "At Home" Committee. Vice-Pres. R.D.S.

HUTCHINSON, T. HARRY

"With book in hand, we see him strolling down the Strand."

Hutch arrived with a loud voice, at Eversley, Ont., Feb. 21, 1896, matriculated from Woodstock College, 1913, and entered R. C. D. S., where he became a necessity on the Hya Yaka staff. After two years overseas he was returned in September, 1917, to complete his course.

McCUAIG, ALEXANDER

"The man worth while is the man who can smile."

"When everything goes dead wrong."

Born, Shanty Bay, June, 1890. Educated at Barrie. Entered Queen's, 1909, and Dentistry in 1911. Dropped out in 1914, returned in 1917. Pleasant disposition. Secretary-Treasurer R.D.S., 1917-18.

McGOWAN, EDMUND S.

"I see a man's life is a tedious one."

"Mac" arrived at Brechin, Ont., one day late for Christmas. Migrated to St. Michael's College, where he received Junior and Senior matric. Joined Class '18 in Dentistry. Vice-Pres. Senior Year. A bright future awaits him.

McRAE, M. F.

"He might have been an engineer, at bridge work, he's a bean."

Just nicely passed the quarter century mark, he looks the part. His wise and unassuming manner has had the confidence of his fellows and the College. Proof, he was Secretary of Parliament and is President of the "At Home" Committee.

REGNIER, THEOBALD

"Vive le Regnier."

Theobald made his debut Feb. 28th, 1896, at Rockland. Primary education Rockland. Ottawa University furnished his key to R. C. D. S. Good athletic supporter. His hobby — hockey. His quiet and conscientious manners won many friends during his sojourn.

SCHAFER, BERNARD

Is fit for treason, stratagems, and spoils."*

New York first saw him. Wended his way to the profession after the usual preliminaries. Basketball enthusiast, lover of good music, also skates. Dental.

SPROULE, SAMUEL W.

"To be with yesterday, what's coming to-day."

Jan. 31, 1895, a public holiday proclaimed at Sandown, Ont., in honour of Sam's debut. Matriculating from Vankleek Hill Collegiate, he entered Royal College with 1T8. President of Parliament and Captain of Inter-Faculty Soccer Champs, 1917-18. Thrice Hya Yaka and twice the "At Home" Committee claimed his valuable services ere his regretted departure from R.C.D.S.

Dean Fernow

To the Graduating Class of Forestry

By Dean Fernow

The forester is a patriot by profession, for his business is to provide for the future of the nation in peace time; but he is to be found as patriotic in war time, when the sterner demands on his citizenship call for sacrifices.

It is thus that the Faculty of Forestry has suffered perhaps more than any other by the call to arms, and the Class of 1918, the class which entered at the beginning of the war, perhaps more than any other class.

Of the twenty men who entered that year, one only is left to go to graduation, with three of earlier entrance to the University, so that the Class of 1918 ends up with only four, two of whom had enlisted but are now physically unfit for military service.

The enlistments were not, as might be expected, made mainly for the semi-peaceful occupation of the Forestry Battalions; only three of the Class and thirteen of the whole Faculty enlistments have been for that service. Two members of the Class, H. S. Edmonds and F. G. Stupart, made the supreme sacrifice, and A. E. Cuzner, who was an aviator, fell into the enemy's lines and is now reported killed. The Faculty of Forestry is still in the pioneering stage, and the withdrawal of any one man is a distinct loss to the country at large.

We record the fact that of 71 undergraduates and graduates of this Faculty known to have enlisted (28 of the latter), at present writing not less than 12 have given their lives for their country, 17 have been wounded, gassed, or ill, two are prisoners.

COURTNAGE, ROSS A.

"Valiant in love, undaunted in fear."

"Hit the road" at Brantford, 1894. Matriculated, 1909. Entered in Arts, subsequently found his place in Forestry. With outbreak of war "went over" as an aviator, returning as enthusiastic a Forester as ever.

KAY, JAMES

"I have a book on that."

Born in auld Scotia, Jimmie came to Canada in 1907, entering the Dominion Forestry Service. Desiring to supplement European practice with more technical training, the Faculty of Forestry made his acquaintance in 1912, losing him for three years "to do a wee bit o' campaigning in th' army."

ROBERTSON, WILLIAM M.

"Knowledge comes but wisdom lingers."

Bill originated and received his early education in Toronto. Then the call came and he fared forth into the Northern Wilds. In 1914 he returned to acquire scientific knowledge for the education of his beloved land, into the way it should grow.

To the Graduating Class of Pharmacy

By Dean Heebner

Dean Heebner

The vocation of Pharmacy calls for a dual training in the mastery of its professional side and adaptation to its commercial aspect. During four years of training under the instruction of a pharmaceutical chemist you acquired a certain amount of knowledge in the theory and technic of your chosen calling and in merchandizing; you then availed yourself of the course of instruction furnished by the Ontario College of Pharmacy and thereby extended your education in the theory and practice of pharmacy, which eventually enabled you to become legally qualified pharmaceutical chemists and possessors of the degree Phm.B.

Your future success will now be of your own making. Do not imagine that you have finished your study because you have secured the coveted diplomas, for you have only been taught what you must do, and the end of your College curriculum is the beginning only of your work.

Among the many elements that go to secure what may be called professional success, true character is most important, and in a very true sense such character is the only true success of life, rather as the factor in the production of a result than itself a result. Carefully guard your character, and reputation will take care of itself. You will be judged by what you are, not what you appear to be. Conscience is the backbone of manhood; put your conscience into every prescription you dispense. A pharmacist should be a pharmacist because his spirit will not allow him to be anything else; there must be professional enthusiasm. If you can be first in anything else, and only a third-rate pharmacist, then leave pharmacy for that something else.

Do not be mere professional men and women, for specialism tends to narrow the mind. Remember that you are citizens as well as pharmacists, and take an interest in public affairs and in all movements that tend to right wrongs and correct abuses. Have a true public spirit. God speed you.

The Ontario College of Pharmacy

To the Graduating Class of Veterinary College

By Principal Grange

Principal Grange

In commencing the practice of Veterinary Surgery it is essential that the surroundings of the practitioner should be scrupulously clean and everything tidy.

All instruments should be of the best quality and most approved models; medicines used in practice should always be of superior quality.

In order that the practitioner may keep abreast with the times, the best veterinary journals should be on his desk within convenient reach, and veterinary text books in plenty be on his library shelves, all of which should be carefully studied from time to time, and thus help to defeat the chance of his becoming a derelict.

It would no doubt be to the practitioner's advantage to become a member of a Veterinary Association having for its object the elevation of the standards of all things pertaining to veterinary science; the improvement of its members and the welfare of the public, as well as the courteous consideration of fellow practitioners and patrons of his calling; indeed, the ethics of the Association should be such as make for all things of higher order.

He should take a wholesome interest in all public affairs, especially those of local interest, and thus help to bear his share of the burdens of good government.

Young men practising Veterinary Surgery should keep in mind that they are in close relation to one of the great foundation-stones on which the prosperity of this country is being built, viz.: the live stock industry; take, for instance, the transportation question and try to estimate the value of the horse in the present world crisis alone, and one will at once see the enormous importance of his health and general welfare in carrying forward the movements of armies and their supplies.

Even the dog, which is often looked upon as a mere companion, yet if we follow his trail we will find him guarding herds and flocks with intelligence bordering on the human, and going further afield we find him doing his bit with equal intelligence on the battle front.

Then there are the bovines and other domestic animals, whose health depends upon properly regulated veterinary hygiene and other branches of veterinary science, in a similar way to that in which the human family depends upon the medical profession for its care and general comfort.

That the live stock industry has a very important bearing upon the life and activity of the human race may be illustrated by a few published figures of the consumption of meat per capita in different countries previous to the present war.

In Great Britain, for instance, the consumption of meat per capita was 120 lbs. annually; in Germany, 113 lbs.; in France, 80 lbs.; in Belgium, 70 lbs.; in Austria-Hungary, 64 lbs.; and in Russia, only 50 lbs. Crossing to this side of the Atlantic, we find the average consumption for each individual in Canada is 175 lbs.; in the United States 186 lbs.; but in Australia the amount consumed is far beyond any of the other countries above mentioned, where it is estimated that 260 lbs. is consumed by each individual yearly.

With figures like those quoted before us we may begin to realize some of the responsibilities of present-day veterinary science as compared with the time when hygiene as applied to health of food-producing animals was not seriously considered.

Indeed, if we multiply the above figures by the number of the inhabitants it will produce results in pounds that in the words of the late Paul Kruger "would stagger humanity."

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

BALDWIN, CHESTER H.

*"Modest and silent is he as a nun,
One weak chirp is his only note."*

First chirped at Dolston, Ont., May 7, 1886; Dolston Public School; Craighurst can answer for his skill as a boulder. Cornet in Craighurst orchestra. A faithful student and a good husband.

BARLOW, BRUCE E.

Oh, what a man to the science he'll mean"*

For several years Bruce was a rancher in the West, but forsook the lariat for the lancet in '15. Took prominent part in athletics. Specializes in Surgery.

BOAST, CHARLES

"Still water runs deep."

Born Nov. 9, 1895. Matriculated at St. Francis College, Richmond, P.Q. Class Secretary, '16. Torontonensis Committee, '17. Came to the O.V.C. in search of higher knowledge and to master Veterinary science. Well and creditably has he attained the goal that he sought.

BOYES, N. R.

"Surely, surely, slumber is more dear than toil."

Ross made his first public appearance in Ottawa, but after growing weary of life at the Capital, migrated to Nova Scotia. Entered the O.V.C. in fall of 1915 in hope that some day he might become a qualified Veterinarian.

BURKE, THOMAS S.

*"His ready Irish wit and smile
Do all the girlish hearts beguile."*

T. S. Burke, born, yes thanks, 1888. South March claims the right to go into the archives of history as his birthplace. Tom tried wheat farming in Sask., with success, but decided Veterinary Science was his vocation. Chairman of Social Committee. Member and officer in the Frat.

CAMPBELL, ALEXANDER McG.

"Well armed with mighty arguments."

The greatest event in the history of Fro-bisher, Sask., was the arrival of A. McG., 1895. Upon reaching the years of discretion he saw the need for good Veterinarians, so enrolled in Class '18. His services will doubtless be an honour to the profession.

CHAMBERS, ALEXANDER

"Being good is an awful lonesome job."

Arrived at Treherne, Manitoba, 1893. For several years he did a small boy's duty on his father's farm. Later decided to take unto himself a profession, so entered O.V.C. in 1915. Member of the Y.M.C.A. Committee. Favorite expression—"She's a hum-dinger."

COBB, BRUCE E.

"While it was yet early he arose and went to a far lecture."

He came from Penn., U.S.A., accompanied by his spouse and spice. While here we found him a very industrious student possessed a special affinity for blackboard erasers.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

COLEMAN, GEORGE

"To his best friends he was well known."

North Sydney, Cape Breton, N.S., saw him first embark upon Life's Tempestuous seas, and he has been rolling ever since. After leaving the land of the "Bluenoses" he followed "roping and riding" for several years in Oregon. Geo. was Pres. of our class in its graduating year.

COLEMAN, NORMAN J.

"He loved music, also beauty."

Born and educated at Forester's Falls, afterwards went West, but desiring to be a Veterinarian, joined the O.V.C., Class '18. Member of the "Frat." Possessed of a studious and genial disposition. A brilliant future is predicted.

CRAWFORD, NELLES M.

"Girls, girls, girls, beginning and ending with girls."

Crawford blew into the '18 Class from the iron town of Brampton, after having exhausted all institutions of learning in that burg. Since coming he has gained some knowledge, some skill and a moustache. Member of Frat. and active social worker.

CURDT, CLARENCE G.

"A prince among good fellows."

"Honas" gleaned his education in a prairie schoolhouse, entered High School in 1912. Decided to take up the Veterinary profession and consequently proceeded to O.V.C. His attraction for ladies increased in proportion to the development of his cerebrum. Member of the Frat.

CURRIE, A. D.

"Smile and the world smiles with you."

First smiled in Painswick, near Barrie, December, '92. Early education received there, later at Dalston Collegiate. Wandered over the Prairie Provinces for several years. In 1915 registered at O.V.C. as a Freshman. Art was slow to anger, but there is a limit to all things.

DAVIDSON, WALTER B.

"Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you."

Walter hails from Neptune, Sask. Born in U.S.A., but migrated to Canada at an early age. Specialty is boxing. Entered O.V.C., Class '17, but saw the folly of his ways and wisely decided to cast his fortune with Class '18.

ECKERT, EDWARD M.

"Mark well this youth, He's little, but oh my!"

Eddie first demanded a hearing in Sebringville. Matriculated from Stratford C. I. Later spending two years at Western University. In fall of 1914 he decided that the lower animals needed his services, so entered O.V.C., and after two years in 1T7 and one in practice, expects to graduate with 1T8. Vet. Representative on Torontonsensis. Member of Frat.

EVERETT, P. G.

"As a fun-maker he had few equals."

Simcoe is his home. Entered O.V.C. in 1915 as "Charlie Chaplan" in disguise. Before entering his Senior Year he took unto himself a better half. Member of the Frat. Percy tried his luck in the sulky this past summer with great success.

FERGUSON, CHARLES D.

"Much may be made of a Scotchman if he is caught young alas!"

From Woodstock College he came like a lion, but in time he ceased to roar, and was then always willing to lend a helping hand. In his final year he held the important position of "Class Cop." His future looks bright.

FOREMAN, OSCAR H.

"If you can't figure it out, ask Oscar."

Born in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., 1892. Educated there and at Red Deer, Alta., where his home now is. Took preparatory course at Alta. Agric. College before coming to O. V. C. Has many friends; was Pres. of 1st year; won scholarship in his 2nd. Remember, Oscar, that a moustache is a young man's own fault.

FURNEAUX, JOHN H.

"The only way to have a friend is to be one."

It was Jack's lot to have Newfoundland as his birthplace, and while receiving his education at Bishopfield College, he caused the Headmaster a great deal of anxiety and the loss of many wooden spoons. He is a member of the Omega Tau Sigma. If there is one hobby of Jack's, it is Tobacco.

GAMMELL, D. T.

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined."

Barnet, Vermont, claims this stalwart son. Educated at St. Johnsbury Academy. Has lately fallen victim to a malady which takes him frequently to the hospital. Keeper of Records and Seals of the Omega Tau Sigma.

GRUER, DANIEL

*"It's nice to get up in the morning
But it's nicer to be in bed."* Lauder.

Arrived at Aubrey, Quebec, Oct., 1894. His early education was received at the Aubrey School. Later studied two years at MacDonald Agric. College. His aroused interest in animal welfare is responsible for Dan's presence among us.

HALBERT, S. FREDERICK

"I never felt the kiss of love, Nor maiden's hand in mine."

Fred blew into Markdale in '94; here he received his early education, and in fall of 1915 entered O.V.C. "Fish," as he is sometimes called, is an admirer of Pure-breds. His chief hobby is Football.

HEPPLESTON, JOHN W.

"It's all off! What The hair of his head."

Native of Yorkshire, Eng., crossed the Briny in '07. Trainer and exhibitor of "hackneys and hunters" for several years. Pres. of O.V.C. A. A. in Freshman year. His genial nature has brought him many friends and "dates."

HODGSON, JOSEPH W.

*"Another of these students . . . but a merrier man
Within the limit of becoming worth."*

Born at Hanover, Ont., April 18, 1879. Received instruction, etc., in Strathcona School, Owen Sound. An enthusiastic and a diligent student of the live stock industry. A true friend of our dumb creatures. Member Omega Tau Sigma

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

HORWILL, MARK H.

"Though conquered, he counts as no small."

The subject of our sketch is another of England's sons who left the Motherland to play his part of the game in Canada. After several years spent in Sask., he came to the O.V.C. Always took a prominent part in military matters. His adopted hobby was boxing.

HOSKIN, K. LAVERN

"Good studentship means good citizenship."

Vernie has been a social as well as an Academic success. First made his cry for pure food in '95. After leaving Collegiate he followed banking for two years, but, hoping to some day have "money" of his own, cast his lot with Class '18. Deeply interested in fox farming. A typical grandfather's boy is our Vernie.

HOWELL, HAROLD

*"It is not muzzing like a tree
In bulk, doth make man better be."*

Harold first began wielding his fists in Vernon, Ont., and after being safely piloted through the perils of childhood, entered Queen's in the Art course, later entering the more congenial sphere of Vets. in Class '18.

KOCH, GEORGE E.

*"And the muscles of his brawny arms
Are strong as iron bands."*

Born at Edwardsville, Illinois, Dec. 2, 1893. Educated at Edwardsville High School. Took up farming and stock-raising at Stathmore, Alta. Studious and athletic. A scienceed wrestler.

LAY, GEORGE

"Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice"

George was born at Edmonton, Alta., 1893. Before entering upon his course at O.V.C. he attended school at Alameda, Sask. Acted as Vice-Pres. of Athletic Assoc. His classmates all join in wishing him success in his chosen profession.

MCCABE, WILLIAM J.

"Often called, but seldom acts up."

First gazed on this world July 12, 1889. Educated at Alliston. Joined the class in fall of 1915. Favorite pastimes were "Fording," Theatres and Study, when the latter was necessary. His motto "Never do to-day what can be put off until to-morrow." Here's wishing you success, Bill

McKELVEY, SILAS A.

"Much labour is a nearness to the flesh."

Silas made his first public speech at Alliston in 1891, and some speech it was. Mac received his early training at Sheldon Public School, and has since followed farming, with the exception of a few months at Orangeville Business College. We have no doubt as to the brilliancy of his future.

McKINNON, K. W.

"Good Vets. are born, not made."

Hampton, P.E.I.—Mac says they grow a lot of good things there besides "spuds." His cheerful, kindly disposition and love of animals, coupled with his fluency of speech and natural affinity for medicine and surgery, make Mac the ideal Veterinarian.

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

MELANSON, JAMES T.

"What is worth doing is worth doing well."

Digby, N.S., claims "petit Jacques." Graduated from N.S.A.C. in 1915. Entered O.V.C. during the fall of the same year. A good student, good thinker and a good fellow. Our class pianist.

MILLER, EDWIN L.

"There stands the miller all alone by himself."

June 3rd, 1892, at Boston, Mass., was the event. Matriculated at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt. Three years he spent here studying Civil Engineering. Crossed the line in 1915 to attend the O.V.C. Member Theta Chi Fraternity.

NOTTING, ERROL S.

*"He wore a smile worth a fortune,
With a naughty little twinkle in his eye."*

Dartmouth, N.S. is his home. Graduate of the N.S.A.C. His great interest in the live stock industry brought him to the O. V. C. in fall of '15. Junior Representative on Students' Council. Member of Social Committee. President of Science Association. He loved the ladies.

PERKINS, R. W.

"I should worry."

When "Josh" arrived in Centreville, N.B., his father bought four cigars, one for each inhabitant. Previous to entering College he acted as Pa Perkins' coachman. Josh prefers the stimulatory method of treatment. Youngest member of class.

ROBSON, IRVING

"He wears the rose of youth upon him."

Born, 1891, near Carlisle, Cumberland, England. Crossed the seas, 1904. Educated Simcoe High School. Went West, 1912, settling in Loreburn, Sask. Robby's perseverance will get him there, and his geniality will make him many friends. Pres. Y.M.C.A.

ROWSON, ALBERT E.

"Then he will talk ye gods' how he will talk."

Born in 1882, at Padiham, Lancashire, Eng. Educated at Burnley Grammar School. Crossed the Pond in 1906. Homesteaded in the West, near Loreburn, Sask. Students' Administrative Council, 1918. A live-wire in looking after the class welfare.

SAINT, FREDERICK F.

"Saint by name, but not by nature."

Ushered into a world of sinners Nov., '97. An inherited love for animals led him to the Ontario Veterinary College. Vice-Pres. of Senior Year. Member Y.M.C.A. Committee. Main hobby shows.

SELLMAN, W. J.

"All in all, he's a problem to puzzle the dead."

Bill is proud to recognize Little Falls, U.S.A., as his birthplace, and Sept. 6, '94, as the date. In 1915 he first crossed the Canadian border and entered our class, since then we have always found him to be a true friend and a gentleman what more need be said of our Most Worthy Master of the Omega Tau Sigma?

ONTARIO VETERINARY COLLEGE

SHEPPARD, JAS. A.

"Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment."

Born at Damascus, Ont., Feb. 22, 1891. Damascus School. Enthusiastic over prize stock. Specialized in Anatomy and Botany. Member of the Omega Tau Sigma.

SMITH, JOHN W.

"Yon Cassius has a lean and hungry look; He thinks too much: such men are dangerous."

Began his career in Guelph, later moving to Newmarket, from whence he came to join us in Class '18. After graduation he hopes to be able to alleviate the sufferings of the lower animals. He has many fast friends in Class '18.

SMITH, WILLIAM

"They go wild, simply wild over me."

Pringham, Iowa, was put upon the map 1891, after proving worth mention by being Bill's birthplace. He attended H. S. there. Later engaged in the animal husbandry industry. Possesses faculty of making the most impractical sound plausible. No plugger, but always gets there. Master of Finance in Frat.

STEEN, HARRY G.

"He is little, but he's wise. He's a ripper for his size."

Born July, 1884. Educated at St. Amede, P.Q. He was one of our country's producers, having successfully farmed for several years. Decided in 1915 to attend O.V.C. to enlarge his knowledge of live stock breeding. Expert taxidermist. Sec'y Y.M.C.A. in Senior Year.

STINSON, IVY J.

"Over the plains did Ivy roam, And tell many a tale had he. In his course he led many a horse, While attending the O. V. C."

Born at Harrison, 1888, migrated west to Neepawa, later moving to Weyburn, Sask. Entered our class in fall of '15. Very industrious student.

VINING, ALONZO

"A man of deep thought is a man of few words."

"Lon" was born in Middlesex County, 1891, where he was administered his early education. Being a boy of good physique agriculture grasped his services until 1915, when he enlisted as a student of the O.V.C. He knows the pass-word, and his congeniality has won many friends, who anticipate for him a successful future.

WALKER, EARL C.

"The happiest life that ever was led Is always to court, and never to wed."

Born, 1896, at Bowling Green, Ohio. Graduate of B.G.H.S. Knows good points of our friend "Equus," but prefers the "Happ." Popular with all, possesses push and tact in class affairs. Worthy Master of Frat.

WEALE, OLIVER C.

"Keeps his counsel, does his duty. Clears to friends, and loveth beauty."

Began life's titful fever on April 16, 1895, at Niagara Falls, Ont. Educated at Dufferin School, Toronto. Spent a short time in the West. Came into the right profession in 1915.

ZINCK, KENNETH D.

"Man delights me not, nor woman neither."

Ken early left his home, Lunenburg, N.S., for the busy West. He is a pioneer of North Dakota and Saskatchewan. His fondness for quadrupeds led him to O.V.C. Vice-Pres. of Y. M. C. A. during his Junior Year. His hobby "Skating."

Class 1918 History

We came, we saw, we conquered.

As the Graduating Class of the year 1918 of the Ontario Veterinary College we offer no apologies. We never were a modest class and from the very first we aired our views freely. As is the custom with most freshmen during the extremely variant stage, we endeavoured to revolutionize things in general to our own dire satisfaction, if not to the satisfaction of others.

Not after we had received a thorough hazing by our hated enemies of the junior year did our zeal in any way abate. How we were led, carried, pushed, dragged to the slaughter will go down, down the ages with us. To be liberally lathered with a concoction of axle grease, Jap-a-lac, neatsfoot oil and Le Page's glue, rolled in Royal Household, liberally besmattered with old eggs, can neither be forgotten nor forgiven.

However, we still continued to flourish as of yore; even to the extent of receiving our introductory lectures in Biology, with its numerous and heart-breaking branches.

The organization of the Class Executive put things on a more substantial basis, for we could then meet as a body to discuss plans for our protection against the marauding tribes of our upper classmen. A few of the braver even suggested, in subdued whispers, retaliation.

At the first field meet our Class came into the limelight by cleaning up several firsts and seconds, one of our men coming within one point of the cup-winning senior.

As a class we showed evidence of becoming prominent botanists, differentiating almost without consideration between cruciferae and coniferae.

Among other things, there filtered into our almost imperturbable domes these fixed rules: Never butt into the dissecting room while the juniors are at work; never try to tell all you know to a professor, especially if he be Scotch; give the correct answer or none in a quiz; call a senior "Doc" and he is willing to die for you; never start a fight at the principal's door.

During the year two of our men enlisted for overseas service, R. J. Baker in the 180th Sportsman's Battalion, and Grant Roe in the R. C. D.

Our aspirations were high as we started in various directions after the closing, wondering who should be the lucky practitioner who would receive our invaluable services for the summer?

It was with glad hearts that we said "Hello" to the fellows when we came back for our junior year. The old feeling of greenness was gone, as most of the boys had finished the five months with a preceptor and were "some surgeons." We had lost a number of men from our freshman year, including Nesbitt from Ottawa, the two who are mentioned before as enlisting for overseas service, and Cooney, who went down to the border to investigate the bacillus causing the Mexican trouble. We had gained one member from Class '17.

The boys were at once eager to display their prowess on the "Freshies," and in later years will look back to the memorable scrap which took place in the fall of 1916 on the third floor. However, the "Freshies" were finally vanquished after a stubborn fight on the landing, and after an application of soothing compounds for head and face were marched to the City Hall for inspection by the "officials."

The balance of the year rolled quietly by until near examination time, when twenty-five of the boys of the third year responded to the call of king and country, and the excitement amongst the members of the junior year was tense.

When we returned to Toronto in the autumn of 1917 to resume our work at the College we did so with a greater confidence than we had ever experienced before. The most striking event of the fall term was the formal inauguration of the four-year course at the opening exercises of the College. A number of men, prominent either in University or Government life, were present, including President Falconer, Mr. Rodehouse and others.

After due consideration of the course adopted by the Faculties of Toronto University and by the other universities on the continent, it was decided to forgo the athletic field day for this year.

A trip to the Guelph Winter Fair afforded us an excellent opportunity to acquire useful knowledge on the subject of stock-judging, as well as some pleasure.

We enjoyed the ready wit and constant good humour of Dr. Fitzgerald in Bacteriology.

Each looked forward to his professional career with hope and a determination to be an honour to the veterinary profession. Time flew at an incredible rate, and before we realized it we were bidding good-bye to the dear old College forever.

TRINITY THEOLOGY

BRUCE, C. LIONEL

"Because the kiss she gave me, ere I fell, Sweetens the spirit still."

London, England, heralded the advent of Lionel. Later entered the great Yarmouth Grammar School. Trinity welcomed him, A.D. 1914, and now he departs from our midst an L.Th. He holds the positions of "Varsity Rep." and "Leader of the Opposition," and we do not doubt for a minute that they have qualified him for holy orders and matrimony.

EMERSON, CHARLES E.

"The mind's the measure of the man,"

Born in London, England, and received early education at British School, Cambridge, and Lancashire. Came to the "Land of the Maple" 1909, and ordained in the Diocese of Algoma. Welcomed to Trinity in 1914, and, after working hard and conscientiously, he now leaves with his thirst for knowledge partially quenched, but still contending earnestly for the Faith.

PETTEM, HARRY A.

*"Surely not in vain
My substance of the common Earth was ta'en
And to this Figure moulded."*

"Pet." landed on this sublunary planet at Lyn, Ont., and liked it so well that he stayed. He has been Pres. of Miss. Soc., Director of B.S.A. and Vice-Pres. of the Athletic. We predict for him a great future, feeling sure that he will fill a pulpit with great weight.

SLACK, ERNEST A.

"A young man of fashion and figure and worth."

E. A. first made himself heard in Wakefield, Eng. Afterwards he hied him to Canada, stopping at Hamilton for a time, and finally landing at Trinity. He has been Pres. of the Miss. Soc., Director of B.S.A. and Vice-Pres. of the Lit. Possessing a cheery disposition and adaptability, his success in life is assured.

STENT, CLAUDE F.

"There is a destiny that shares our ends, Rough-hewn them how we will."

Graduated in Arts in 1915. Taught at Ridley for a year and then returned for Divinity. He has been an energetic Leader of the Opposition in the Lit., Pres. of the Theolog. Soc., member of the Review Board and has taken a keen interest in College life.

STUBBS, WILLIAM C.

*"He was a man, take him for all in all,
I ne'er shall look upon his like again."*

Received his early education at Collingwood, Ontario. Came to Trinity in autumn of 1914, and has shown himself a decided lover of books. He does not confine his love to books, however, and we hope his course here will leave well prepared him for Holy Matrimony and Holy Orders, both of which he earnestly desires.

VICTORIA THEOLOGY

ATKINSON, LEVI E.

"Stop not at six feet six or so aim higher, ever higher."

April 23, 1890, saw the auspicious event at Bethesda, Ont. Matriculated at Markham High School. Treas. C. T. Class, '16 and '17. Sec'y Volunteer Band, '16 Heading for the Ministry.

BURNSIDE, ROBERT K.

"Swarter in modo, fortiter in re."

Rob is a true son of Erin, possessing the fire and passion characteristic of his race. The Methodist Church will find him a painstaking preacher and a faithful pastor.

HUNT, HERBERT J.

Details and dates are meaningless here.
In this wonderful book of unknowns:
For "H. J.'s" claim to fame,
Say, "He just plays the game,"
Inter all the rest with his bones.

MOORE, GEORGE W.

In 1913 George exchanged the Rose for the Maple Leaf. He possesses diligence and an untiring spirit, which are desirable qualities in a Methodist Minister.

WALKER, EARLE H.

"Keeps his counsel, does his duty, Cleaves to friends and loveth beauty."

Like a five-pointed star
A boy at home Prince Edward County.
High School days—Albert College.
A probationer—In Saskatchewan.
College experiences—Vic.
A Minister—The To-morrows.

WYCLIFFE THEOLOGY

DICKINSON, HUGH W.

"Life is a business."

"Dick" claims St. Kitts, B.W.I., as the land of his birth, but Montclair, N.J., as the land of "his choice." Congratulations Dick!! Treasurer of Mission Society, Director St. Andrew's Brotherhood, and otherwise generally useful. We will long remember his "A-men Brother."

GIBSON, W.

"Virtue is like a rich stone best plain set."

"Gibbie" came to us from St. Catharines, a native of Manchester, England. Won full colours for athletic prowess; Secretary of Students' Mission Society; Curator of College Chapel; Bantam student since 1914.

SIMPSON, ALBERT

"By Gum!"

Born on the north-east coast of England. Came to Canada in 1911. Entered Wycliffe via basement window in the wee small hours of a cold November morning. Somewhat of a philosopher; Jack of all trades; by preference a Theolog. See "Simmy."

WIDDOWS, ROBERT F.

"Service is the measure of greatness."

Bob came from England in 1913, and since then has served the College on Literary Society and Athletic Executives, and the King with the Divisional Signal Company. Rheumatism brings him back to civil life.

WRIXON, WILLIAM F.

"A man ne was, to all the country dear."

Hails from "Merry England," where he made his first vigorous protest against the badness of the times April 14, 1891. Educ. St. John's Ang. Schools, England. Grad. Bib. Train'g Coll., Edin. Sec. Lads' Institute and Gym., England. Wycliffe Coll., 1T8. Deacon, June 3, 1917.

Ye Honourable Calling of Social Service

I.

"Hang the Editor of 'Torontonensis.'"

That fervent ejaculation, emphasized by a yawn, escaped the Scribe as he reluctantly took off the cap of his fountain-pen on the first morning of the Christmas holidays.

"Two essays, an investigation, and a questionnaire to keep you out of mischief during the past week; and now, lectures over and two days before the General Election, they expect to drag out of you a 'write-up' of three hundred words."

As Bairnsfather's Bert would say, "It's the little things that worry."

II.

"Social Service," in the words of the official Calendar—an instructive annual publication of some literary merit, regarded either as "fiction" or as "miscellaneous"—"embraces the different forms of effort either by the government or by private agencies and individuals, to improve living and working conditions in the community."

"Community" may mean neighbourhood, municipality, province, the nation, or the world. Never have true Canadians more strongly emphasized the common interest, never has humanity itself been more united, than now, when the world is divided by its most devastating war. It is not Co-operation, but Competition, that has failed.

III.

The finest Social Service being rendered to-day is that of the men who are "cancelling the militarism of our friends, the enemy" in the trenches of France and on the seas of the world.

But, when the war is over and the destructive work is done, there will be the greatest constructive work of history for men and women to do.

Alfred Noyes strikes the keynote of Social Service in "New Wars for Old," written in 1913:

"Peace? When have we prayed for peace?

Is there no wrong to right—

Wrong crying to God on high?

Here where the weak and the helpless die,

And the homeless hordes of the city go by,

Our ranks are rallied to-night."

Women Students' Administrative Council of University of Toronto

The Women Students' Administrative Council has just completed its second year. The purpose of the Council is to control all issues in connection with the women students of the whole University. The Council is composed of seventeen members. These are elected from University College, Victoria, St. Hilda's, Medicine, St. Joseph's and Loretto Abbey, Faculty of Education and Social Service Department. The representation on the Council is in proportion to the size of the College.

Though a comparatively young organization, it has already effected several important changes in the activities of the women of the University. One of the most important of these has been the change in the control of the women's section of the "Varsity." The offices of Women's Editor and Women's Managing Editor were created, the appointments to be made each year by the Council. The staff is assisted by an Advisory Board of men and women, appointed by their respective Councils. The Council is hoping that in the near future the Caput will grant to the women equal representation with the men in all college activities.

During the war the Council has undertaken the organization of collections for the British and Canadian Red Cross from the women of the University. This year a concert was given by the Fruit Pickers under the auspices of the Council the proceeds of which were handed over to the University Base Hospital. The programme was contributed by the three camps of the University Pickers—Beamsville, Winona and Oakville. The Council was also given a part of the proceeds from the O. T. C. concert for Red Cross purposes in recognition of the help given in the sale of tickets.

It is expected that as the Council grows both in years and in influence that the ultimate aim of welding the various Colleges more closely will be achieved.

WOMEN'S DRAMATIC CLUB.

Laurie Mitchell, Jean Edgington, Dorothea McFaul, Marion Squair.

Women's Dramatic Club of University of Toronto

The Women's Dramatic Club of the University of Toronto had ever since its formation in 1905 produced one of Shakespeare's comedies, but for the year 1915-16 the Club decided to deviate from this straight and narrow path, and for the last two years has chosen the plays of R. Sheridan.

The play undertaken by the Club for the year 1917-18 was "The Rivals." The parts were very evenly divided and everybody starred, from the sincere and trusting Julia to the ridiculously funny Bob Acres. The Production which is itself very comical, Dr. Kirkpatrick's clever and humorous interpretation of the characters, along with the natural ability of each individual member of the cast to portray her part, all combined to make "The Rivals" a huge success and to fill the hall at each entertainment. The actresses decided that they had a very appreciative audience (to put it very modestly), as the hall resounded continually with laughter during the performance.

Although the aim of the Dramatic Club is to give the women students an opportunity to further and exhibit their skill in acting, yet the Club was glad to make a little money to give to the Franco-British Aid Society and the University Base Hospital and in this way to do its bit.

The Melting Pot---An Innovation

In previous years there has been no such thing in the life of this University as an inter-faculty entertainment. That there was a need felt for some such institution is evidenced by the numerous expressions of opinion by members of the faculty and undergraduates in favour of an inter-faculty dramatic night to discover and give opportunity for expression to latent abilities in the student body. Much was said and little done until a prominent professor communicated his views on the subject to a small group of Y. M. C. A. men, who seized upon the idea and discussed its feasibility. From the discussion was born the idea of a great inter-faculty entertainment under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Accordingly at the Canadian Student Conference held at Knowlton, Que., in June, 1917, definite plans were made to carry into effect the suggestions advanced.

On the reopening of the University in September, Mr. Gordon Agnew of the Dental College, whose dramatic abilities are well known, was appointed to the position of manager-in-chief of the proposed entertainment, which was christened "The Melting Pot." To the hard work of Mr. Agnew, ably assisted by Mr. G. C. Denton of Victoria College, is due in large measure the success of the performance, which was held in Convocation Hall on December 11th before a representative and appreciative audience.

The programme was composed of six numbers and offered great variety in small scope. The opening skit was a minstrel show, "Singers of the Sunny South," a humorous and musical act by the men of University College assisted by Victoria College. Following this the University Orchestra appeared to advantage in several well rendered selections. Members of the Faculty of Education produced "An Exemplification of Modern Scientific Methods of Pedagogy," which contained humorous passages, and though quite evidently satire, was in some respects realistic. The Dental College sketch, "An Extraction Clinic in Texas," provided the audience with much food for laughter, when the united efforts of six men proved necessary to effect the extraction of one schoolboy's tooth. The University Octette, a new organization, under the leadership of Mr. H. B. Martindale, B.A., rendered a vocal selection with fine effect. The closing number on the programme, "The Blow-up of Algernon Blow," was a short play presented by men from the Faculties of Medicine and Applied Science, and portrayed in brief and pithy scenes the unmasking of an arrant boaster.

The organization and presentation of a new activity is always difficult, and Mr. Agnew deserves much credit for the initial success of "The Melting Pot." It was expected that there would be criticism, and in this the men behind the plan were not disappointed. Criticism there was, and some of it adverse. However, it was realized that perfection could not be attained in the inaugural performance of this new organization, and if the entertainment fell somewhat below the standard set, the organizers were able to glean many points for improvement from the critical opinions expressed. With these in mind and aiming to reach a still higher standard of dramatic production, the men behind "The Melting Pot" feel that they can assure the undergraduates of better and finer entertainments in succeeding years, and hope that in this effort they may have the hearty support not alone of the student body, but also of the Faculty.

NEWMAN CLUB OF TORONTO. EXECUTIVE 1917-18

The Toronto Newman Club

Since its establishment in 1913, by His Grace Archbishop McNeil of Toronto, the Toronto Newman Club, 97 St. Joseph Street, is gradually attaining the purpose set forth in the decree of His Holiness Pope Pius X. that, "in all dioceses throughout the world where there are public academies, colleges and universities, let religious doctrine classes be established for the purpose of teaching the truths of our Faith and the precepts of Christian Morality to the youths who attend such public institutions wherein no mention is made of religion."

In Canada and the United States there are similar societies in connection with about eighty secular colleges. It is noteworthy that, in loving memory of that eminent Churchman and scholar, who labored so zealously for learning and for religion, no fewer than twenty-eight of these bear the name of the late Cardinal Newman.

The activities of the Club are social, intellectual and religious, and during the scholastic year of 1917 and '18 a very remarkable interest has been manifested.

The spiritual and moral welfare of the students is the primary object of the institution. Mass is celebrated in the students' chapel every week day at 8 o'clock and on Sundays Communion is given at 9.15, followed by mass and a sermon at 10.00 o'clock; in the afternoon Benediction is sung. Frequent Communion is urged, particular stress being laid on the first Sunday of the month, when all the members approach the holy table in a body. The annual retreat given by one of the Paulist Fathers commenced the first Sunday in Lent and was well attended.

The Club is very fortunate in having a very energetic and efficient executive, and throughout the year the regular Friday night entertainments have been much appreciated.

Noted lecturers, such as Dr. A. J. McDonagh and Mr. Lindsay Crawford, have addressed large audiences on current topics. Dr. F. Morrissey of St. Augustine's Seminary delivered a very instructive course of lectures to the Medical students in particular on the "Ethics of Obstetrics." The notable attraction of the year was the concerts sung by the Paulist Choristers of Chicago in Massey Hall under the auspices of the Club and in aid of the Sailors' Relief Fund.

Three handsome stained glass windows were installed in the Chapel in the rear of the Club rooms in memory of Privates Paul McLaughlan, Vincent and Gus DeFoe, who honourably fell on the field of battle. In honour of two of the most popular members, Sergeant E. F. Sanders and Private H. Kellaher, whose deaths during the fall were keenly mourned, a similar installation, donated by the members, will take place. In the death of Capt. E. J. Kylie the Club lost one of its truest friends and most energetic workers. Other casualties are: Lieut. A. M. Latchford, gassed; Lieut. Darcy Leonard, wounded, and Private W. McNabb, wounded. Many of the members have received recognition for valour on the field of battle.

The institution has only been made possible by the earnest co-operation of the Board of Governors and the Catholic laymen of the Province. A kindly interest has been manifested since its establishment by the majority of the Catholic societies, the benefit of their advice and influence being fully appreciated by the members of the Toronto Newman Club.

Menorah Society

An innovation has been introduced in the University of Toronto, namely, the Menorah Society, which is filling a long-felt need. The Society was founded on Oct. 11, 1917, and officially recognized by the Caput of the University on Nov. 28. The purpose of the Society is to study Jewish history and culture and modern Jewish life and thought. The club is non-sectarian and is open to the undergraduate body, graduates, and members of the Faculty of all beliefs. It holds its meetings fortnightly on Monday evenings at the University "Y."

If the size of the audiences and the enthusiasm shown at the meetings are safe criteria, then this, the youngest club and only one of its kind at Varsity, is in a very flourishing condition. The fact that Sir Robt. Falconer and Prof. W. R. Taylor are its honorary president and vice-president respectively is sufficient guarantee that its aims will, as far as possible, be carried out. Lectures are delivered at each meeting by such men as Ald. Louis M. Singer, Sir Robt. Falconer, Prof. G. M. Wrong, Prof. J. Mavor, Prof. D. R. Keys, and many others.

The Royal Military College of Canada

HERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to Cadets and Officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drills and outdoor exercises of all kinds, ensures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial Service and Canadian Permanent Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years, in three terms of 9½ months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras, is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College, takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, Ont., or to the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

A Matter of Policy

BACK of every sale made by us, there is an honest desire on our part to make every buyer proud to possess any article bought from Ryrie Bros. You may call this conceit, we call it pride—business pride. We have it anyhow, call it what you will.

TAKE WATCHES FOR INSTANCE

Our ladies' watches range from $6.50 to $1000.00. Watches for men, from $7.00 to $750.00, and we sell no watch that will not "do us proud."

The Varsity Magazine Supplement

FOURTH EDITION

PUBLISHED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE STUDENTS ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL

IN order to complete, if possible, the work commenced and carried on in the previous Magazine Supplements to The Varsity, The Students Administrative Council have decided to continue the record of Varsity men on active service, in a fourth publication.

A serious attempt has been made, in previous editions of The Varsity Magazine Supplement, to secure the photographs of every graduate and undergraduate of the University of Toronto on active service. The new Editorial Board will aim at securing the photographs of all those who for any reason have been omitted.

Information as to omissions or new enlistments should be addressed to the General Secretary, Students Administrative Council, University of Toronto.
